Safe and non-toxic, they're one of many eco-conscious options available here.

This year's lesson plan brochure has been completely updated for 2023. Packed with all new, original ideas for every grade and skill level, our lesson plans are created specifically for educators and each meets National Standards for Visual Art Education. 2023 PRICING NOTE

Blick is committed to doing our best to make the necessary sacrifices so that prices in this catalog can be honored throughout 2023. In some cases, we may be able to lower prices if vendors do not raise prices to the extent estimated at the time of publishing this catalog. However, as vendors provide mid-year price increases, we cannot guarantee printed prices in this catalog — all prices are subject to change without notice. As of now, no more than a handful of products required mid-year adjustments, but this year may be an exception. Further, continuing supply chain disruptions have made it difficult to stay in stock on select items, and unfortunately vendors are taking much longer than usual to fill back orders. We ask for your understanding in these unprecedented times. As always, Blick reserves the right to correct typographical errors.

Blick® Studio Acrylics

A combination of price and performance makes Blick Studio Acrylic Colors a great value for students and beginning artists. The colors mix well, so they're ideal for teaching color theory. A high pigment concentration assures strong color power and coverage, and the acrylics have a buttery texture similar to oil paint that holds impasto brush and knife marks. They dry to a permanent, non-yellowing, lightfast paint film that's non-resoluble and flexible. Colors can be assorted for quantity pricing.

Utrecht artists' acrylics

Count on the same consistency, quality, and performance from batch to batch and year to year.

Utrecht® Artists' Acrylic Colors

Among the first to develop and produce artists' acrylics, Utrecht has been making these professional-quality paints in Brooklyn, New York, since the late 1950s. Skilled craftspeople use only the finest pigments to create each and every color. The heavy-bodied paints offer excellent tinting strength, superior intensity and opacity, a buttery texture, and outstanding lightfastness. Colors can be assorted for quantity pricing.

Blick® Masterstroke® Wonder White Rounds — Series 2026

SHORT handle

Blick's Wonder White Taklon has a texture and responsiveness comparable to red sable, but with greater durability. The sharp point has good spring and is great for waterbased media (expect some staining of the filaments — it won't affect the performance of the brush, just the appearance).

B Yasutomo® Bamboo Calligraphy Brushes

Unlike watercolor brushes, oil brushes, and most other paintbrushes, sumi brushes are composed of two separate parts — a core composed of relatively stiff hairs gathered to form a tapered point, and an outer wrapping of softer hairs selected for their ability to hold water and facilitate smooth strokes. Both come together in a point when dipped into water. This structure ensures smooth maneuverability and dynamic strokes under light or heavy pressure.

Paint Puck® Brush Cleaner

Improve your process while you extend the life of your brushes! Simply attach the Paint Puck to the bottom of your rinse cup, can, or bucket, fill the cup with water, then brush the bristles against the soft silicone nubs between color changes. Removes acrylic and watercolor paints from sable, bristle, and synthetic brushes. Note: The Paint Puck may also be used with oil painting solvents, but may expand in size as a result.

Ampersand™ Value Series Artist Panels — Unprimed Basswood

This panel is handcrafted using a thick, non-flexible basswood top, sanded perfectly smooth. It's ready to seal and prime with the ground of your choice. The fine, uniform characteristics of basswood offer a better, imperfection-free surface. Thick and durable, this panel gives you superior stability. It won't flex, even with heavy paint and wax layers. The cradle is crafted from solid pine that can be finished with paint or stain.

Ampersand™ Aquabord™

This textured clay surface absorbs watercolors like a fine paper, but with significant advantages. This unique surface can never be overworked and it will not tear, shrink, or buckle even under heavy water application like regular papers. Lift, change, and reapply colors endlessly. Aquabord can be gently rinsed off and then used a second time if needed. Spray finished artwork with fixative to seal and eliminate the need for expensive framing. Archival and acid-free.

understanding paper

Whether you use papers professionally, academically, or for your own enjoyment, the paper you choose is a crucial component in achieving your desired result. The best plan is to learn everything you can about a paper before you buy. Here are some of the things artists look for when choosing papers:

Fiber

Paper is made from a variety of plant sources. Whether the fibers are cotton, linen, flax, jute, hemp, bamboo, rice straw, or rattan, they all provide cellulose fibers or plant cells of varying dimensions. A sheet of paper is basically a thin layer of mingled cellulose fibers. Most commonly, three types of fibers are used to produce papers for drawing and painting: cotton, cellulose, and a combination of fibers.

Cotton papers, made from the longest cotton fibers, are generally considered the highest quality and referred to as 100% cotton rag. Able to withstand heavy erasing, they also resist tearing and wear. High-quality 100% cotton paper can last more than 100 years. However, not all cotton papers are the same. Those made from the lesser-quality, shorter cotton fibers can become fuzzy when reworked.

Cellulose papers are usually made of wood pulp and have a natural acid component that will destroy the paper over time. The more acidic a paper is, the shorter its life expectancy. Buffers can be added to make the paper neutral.

Finish

Manufacturers of watercolor paper typically offer three or more finishes, labeled rough, cold press, not/cold press, and hot press.

Rough paper is chosen for its definite texture. It is the natural result when a sheet is allowed to air dry without smoothing or pressing. Rough surface paper is a good choice for transparent watercolors used in a bold and immediate style, as it allows the pigment of color washes to settle into the hollows of the paper. Pastel artists also generally prefer a paper with "tooth" or texture to grab onto the pastel pigment.

Cold Press paper, which is the most popular and versatile, has a slight texture. Handmade papers achieve this by re-pressing a new wet sheet, which smoothes the surface to some degree. Machine-made papers achieve a similar effect by placing the wet sheets between cold metal rollers.

Not/Cold Press: A "Not" sheet means it is "not hot press," and the term is often used instead of cold press.

Hot Press paper is very smooth, made by running a freshly formed sheet through heated metal rollers or plates to smooth out any texture and create a flat, hard, featureless surface. A good choice for highly detailed illustrations, it is also used for printmaking, etching, drafting, sketching, and drawing. Other characteristics come into play with bristol, which is usually available in a plate or vellum finish, in a variety of weights.

Drawing and sketching papers are available in a variety of weights and have surface characteristics that depend on the type of media being used, such as pen-and-ink, pencils, crayons, charcoal, markers, or even light washes.

Size & Absorbency

Sizing is added to make paper more water-resistant. It keeps the paper from absorbing too much moisture or pigment and helps to keep watercolors or inks brilliant. It also keeps lines and edges looking crisp. It is less important for papers used for dry media. Sizing also can factor into a paper's archival qualities — whether it will sustain or deteriorate over time.

Internal sizing is added while the paper pulp is still in a liquid state and is maintained in the matter of the paper.

External, Surface, or Tub sizing is applied to the surface of the paper after the sheet is formed and dried. Some paper is both internally and surface-sized.

Formats & Stretching

Art papers come in a variety of formats, including single sheets, pads or sketchbooks, blocks, rolls, or board-mounted. For watercolor or acrylic painting, it's important to stretch your paper before painting so it stays flat, which also makes a more professional presentation when framed.

Single sheets are a great way to experiment using a small amount of paper. They may require stretching and taping to remain flat if wet media is used.

Pads or Sketchbooks are a convenient way to bring your work wherever you go — a good choice for dry techniques that use minimal amounts of water.

A Block is a stack of paper glued or bound together on two or more sides and mounted onto a backing board. A block keeps the paper stretched outdoors. Only one sheet can be used at a time.

Rolls are an economical way to work with your favorite papers.

Paper Weight

Thicker or heavier papers can handle more water or paint without buckling, curling, or falling apart. Traditionally, papers are measured by the weight in pounds of one ream, approximately 500 sheets. If a paper comes in different sizes, its weight will vary even though the thickness has not changed. Each sheet would have a weight of 1,114 lb for the ream of paper. Its weight changed due to the size of the sheets, not the paper's thickness, but the paper is still designated as 300 lb.

The inconsistency of this traditional method has led to the use of metric measurements or grams per square meter or gsm. When paper is measured in gsm, its weight will not change with the size of the sheet. The same 22" x 30" sheet of watercolor paper described above would weigh 640 gsm, meaning that a square meter of this paper would weigh 640 grams. Larger sheets of the same paper, such as a 40" x 60" sheet, would also weigh 640 gsm. While different sizes, the square meter remains constant, as does the thickness.

Grafix® Dura-Lar™

The acetate alternative!

For all of its usefulness, acetate does cause a few headaches: ink that won't stay, yellowing or graying with age, edges that curl. The alternatives are expensive and sometimes just don't suit the purpose. Dura-Lar is the acetate alternative. It combines the best features of Mylar® and acetate, and offers a variety of products so that you can purchase the film that suits your needs precisely. It is always consistent in color and overall clarity, and won't discolor with age. Dura-Lar is archival-quality, safe for overlaying artwork, and it lays flat. It will remain dimensionally stable for as long as you need.

Grafix® Dura-Lar™ Clear Film

Designed for layouts, color separations, and overhead transparencies. Can also be used for screen printing or as a protective covering for your work.

Crescent®

Crescent notFOAM™

An Eco-friendly mounting and artboard surface

notFOAM is "not foam" because it is:

Recyclable

☑ notFOAM ☐ Standard Foam

notFOAM can be recycled or sold to recycling companies for reuse instead of being disposed of in dumpsters — reducing large dumping fees.

Renewable

☑ notFOAM ☐ Standard Foam

The paper used to make notFOAM comes from trees that are farmed cyclically as a crop, a highly sustainable process. These managed forests provide wildlife habitats, absorb greenhouse gases, and produce oxygen. Managed forests also provide long-term employment for domestic workers.

Repulpable

☑ notFOAM ☐ Standard Foam

Paper mills can efficiently use recycled materials such as notFOAM with minimal treatment or energy-intensive processes. They simply add water, blend, and make more paper from it. Plastic and foam are expensive, energy-intensive, and inefficient to reuse. Plus, they cannot be remade into new foam due to the breakdown of carbon chains.

Compostable

☑ notFOAM ☐ Standard Foam

If nothing is done to reprocess notFOAM, Mother Nature takes care of it. The pulp fiber used to make notFOAM breaks down naturally and easily. Foam, on the other hand, will last for centuries if not properly disposed of.

Sustainable

☑ notFOAM ☐ Standard Foam

All fiber used to produce notFoam is certified under the Sustainable Forestry Initiative. This ensures that all notFOAM materials come from recycled content or certified managed forests by companies certified to the 2015–2019 Fiber Sourcing Standards.

Crescent® notFOAM™ Corrugated Cardboard

This cardboard sheet has a buffered, acid-free, smooth white surface and a natural kraft corrugation and backing. It earned its name by being "not foam," i.e., recyclable, composable, and renewable. Comprised of E and B corrugated fluting, notFOAM measures 3/16" (4.76 mm) thick and comes in a 32" x 40" sheet. It accepts markers, tempera paints, and acrylic paints.

The SFI Certified Sourcing label and claim do not make claims about certified forest content. They tell buyers and consumers that fiber in a product comes from a company that is certified to the SFI 2015-2019 Fiber Sourcing Standard or comes from recycled content, or from a certified forest. All fiber must be from non-controversial sources. Certified sourcing is a defined term in SFT Definitions. (Section 13, SFI 2015-2019 Standard and ruled.)

Daniel Smith® Walnut Ink

The warm character of walnut ink is reminiscent of drawings by Rembrandt. This rich, finely pigmented ink has a sepia color that resembles traditional walnut-based inks, but it will not fade. Use Walnut Ink for drawings with both dip pens and brushes. Because it's waterbased, it handles like a watercolor on washes, with good layering and lifting capabilities. 2 oz (59 ml) bottle.

Unison® Handmade Pastel Sets

John Hersey began producing handmade pastels by lightly rolling each pastel so that the pigment was softly compressed, resulting in fluid color unlike any other pastel. While other manufacturers add white or black to make up a color set, Unison uses pure pigments with a cycle of related hues and a very minimal amount of binder for intense, strong color. Sticks are approximately 2"L x 1/2"Dia.

Punch & Loop Tapestry

GRADES 5–12

Scan the QR code to view this lesson online.

Inspired by the work of Sophie Taeuber-Arp, create a tapestry without a traditional loom or weaving techniques.

Sophie Taeuber-Arp worked in the early to mid 1900s as a multidisciplinary artist. After her death, Taeuber-Arp was relegated to the footnotes of art history, and even then, the focus was on her role as wife to her artist husband. But without a doubt, she was a strong creative influence on those in the Dada movement.

Now Taeuber-Arp has received the recognition she deserves, with her textile works garnering the most attention. She was interested in geometry and color alone, writing that the "intrinsic decorative urge should not be eradicated...it is one of humankind's deep-rooted, primordial urges."

In this lesson, students will sketch their designs in opaque watercolor onto Roylco Paper Mesh. Then, using a punch needle tool that they have assembled, students will "punch" loops of yarn into the paper mesh. The process allows for greater textural variation than traditional weaving. And, once you get the hang of the process, it moves along much more quickly than weaving.

Materials

Blunt Tapestry Needle #13, 2-3/4" Pkg of 12, (65104-1009): need one needle per student.
Bic Round Stic Grip Pen, Pkg of 12, (22523-2012); share two packages across class.
Mini Long-Nose Pliers 5", (33083-1010); share one between two students.
Blick Artist Tape, White pH Neutral, 3/4" x 60 Yds, (24143-3460); share one roll between 6 students.
Roylco Paper Mesh, 7" x 10", Pkg of 24 Sheets, (01391-1001); need one sheet per student.
Value Pre-Cut Mats, White, 9" x 12", 6" x 9" opening, Pkg of 50 (17205-1003); need one mat per student.
Richeson Opaque Watercolor Pans, Set of 22, (00380-0229); share one set between 4 students.
Royal & Langnickel Big Kids' Choice Lil' Grippers Brushes, Variety, Set of 15, (06082-1509); share two sets across class.

Suggestions for Weaving Materials
DMC Cotton Embroidery Floss, Popular, 8-3/4" yds, Pkg of 36, (62474-1005)
Lily Sugar 'N Cream Yarn, 2-1/2 oz, assorted colors (65236-)
Classroom Yarn Assortment, 5lb, assorted Colors (65208-1005)
Trait-Tex Econ-O-Yarn Assortment, 10 lb, (65216-1009)
Trait-Tex Bright Intermediate Rug Yarn, Set of 16 Cones, single or double weight (62813-)

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Preparation

1. Using the grid of Roylco Paper Mesh as a guide, create a geometric design with Richeson Opaque Watercolors.
2. With tape, secure a the painted sheet of paper mesh to the backside of a pre-cut mat.
3. Select weaving materials that match the colors of the painting as closely as possible. The materials can be different weights and textures.

Process

1. Disassemble a Bic Stic Pen. This can be done by hand, but it helps to have needle nose pliers.
2. Discard the pen cap, nib, ink reservoir, and tube endcap. Only the hollow plastic tube will be needed.
3. Place the needle upside-down so that the blunt needle point lays against the outside of the pen tube. The eye of the needle should extend approximately 1-1/2" past the tube and the eye hole of the needle should be parallel to the tube. Use Blick Artist Tape to secure.
4. Thread the punch needle tool from the top of the tube down toward the eye of the needle.
5. Choose an area to begin punch needle weaving. For the first punch, push the needle all the way through the mesh hole on the front side so that the base of the tube is touching the paper mesh surface. Pull the tail of the yarn all the way through and tie a knot. Pull the needle back up.
6. Punch the needle again, moving to the right of the last punch. This time do not pull the yarn; simply grab the loop on the backside and hold. Pull the tool up, leaving the loop. Depending upon artist's choice, punchwork and loops can be back to front or front to back.

Step 1: Create a geometric design with Richeson Opaque Watercolors.

Step 2: With tape, secure a sheet of Roylco Paper Mesh to the backside of a pre-cut mat.

Step 3: Make a punch needle tool by taping a blunt needle upside down onto a disassembled hollow pen tube.

Step 4: "Punch" the tool through the mesh holes to weave.

7. When a section is complete, cut the yarn and tie a knot.
8. To lock in the stiches, a solid piece of matboard or chipboard can be attached with glue to the back side of the pre-cut mat. A dowel rod can be threaded through for hanging and display.

Bas Relief Plaster Tiles

Combine clay, carving, and plaster to create a dimensional tile.

Bas relief refers to a kind of low-level relief sculpture where the objects seem to project from the background. This kind of sculpture is generally created by carving out the negative space of a material such as stone or wood.

Generally, when one thinks of bas relief, ancient Greek and Roman reliefs incorporated into architecture come to mind. But this isn't the only application of the art form! Bas relief pieces can stand on their own as distinct art pieces to frame on a wall — much like a painting would be displayed. They can be descriptive of scenes from life or abstracted completely.

In this lesson, students will carve a design into Van Aken Plastalina Modeling Clay. The final clay piece is then taped around the edges to create side walls of a mold into which plaster is poured. Once the plaster is set, simply remove the tape, and pop out the plaster tile. The clay mold can then be used to create another piece. The plaster tile can be left white or painted with watercolor.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Step 1: Roll out clay onto the Masonite board.

Step 2: Use tools to carve design.

Step 3: Pour plaster into the mold.

Preparation

1. Use the Kemper wire clay cutter to divide the Van Aken Plastalina Modeling Clay into four equal parts. Each student will need one piece of clay.

Process

1. Use the rolling pin to flatten the clay piece into 1" slab on the Masonite Craft Base. Use a soft Fettling Knife to cut away any excess and to square off the slab.
2. A variety of tools can be used to carve the design into clay. Ribbon tools are good for removing large amounts of material, while the Blick Lino Cutter is good for creating fine lines. The Kemper Wipe Out tool is perfect for smoothing out edges of the design. Keep in mind this is a reverse process: any mark carved into the clay will protrude out when cast in plaster.
3. When the design is finished, run a length of 2" masking tape around the perimeter of the clay tile, creating a wall.
4. To mix the plaster carefully pour 2/3 of a cup of water into a container with 1 cup of plaster. Mix with a craft stick for approximately 3 to 5 minutes. Carefully spoon the plaster into a cup and pour water into the cup. Mix with a craft stick for approximately 3 to 5 minutes.
5. When the plaster mixture is free of lumps and is the consistency of heavy cream, it is ready to be poured into the mold. Pour slowly, filling the mold to just under the top of the masking tape barrier.
6. Once the plaster is set, in approximately one hour, remove the masking tape from the sides of the mold. Carefully pop the plaster tile out from the mold by gently pulling both sides until the plaster piece is free.
7. The clay tile can be used again to cast the same design, or reworked to make new designs.
8. Finished tiles can be colored using watercolor.

Materials

Van Aken Plastalina Modeling Clay, Gray, 4.5lb, (33268-2525); share one between four students.
Blick Pottery Plaster No. 1, 8lb, (33536-1008); share one bag across class.

Woven Impressionist Paintings

GRADES 5–12

Weave it all together: one scene, two impressions, and one dynamic composition with built-in perspective.

Artist Claude Monet is known for painting the same subject repeatedly in order to study the effects of light and atmosphere at different times of day and under varying conditions. Working on as many as eight canvases at a time, he would paint en plein air (outdoors) until he felt the scene had shifted, then set it aside and start a new canvas. He would circle back to the first painting on another day, when the light and conditions were similar.

Painting from life — whether it's an outdoor landscape, a still-life arrangement, or a portrait sitting — presents challenges and helps a developing artist hone crucial thinking skills.

Students will create two paintings (or drawings) of the same subject and the same composition, then weave them together with diagonal lines that provide the impression of perspective. The eyes see one scene, but two impressions.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Materials

Blick Essentials Watercolor Paper, 15 sheet pad 9" x 12" (10180-1123); need 2 sheets per student
Blick Sketch Board, 15" x 16" (22945-1007); need one per student
Blick Artist Tape, 1/2" x 60 yds (24143-1260); share one roll between two students

Materials for Painting, recommend:
Sargent Art Watercolor Aquarelle Set, 12 tubes (01760-1129); share one set between four students
Staedtler Double-Ended Watercolor Brush Pens, set of 18 (82357-1189); share one set between four students
Faber-Castell Goldfaber Aqua Watercolor Pencils, set of 12 (22651-1129); share one set between four students
Royal and Langnickel Aqua Flow Brushes, classpack of 36 (06046-1036); share one across class

Optional Materials
Blick Folding Palette Box, small 8" x 8" (03001-0000)
Alvin SN200 Snap Blade Cutter, 5.25" x 0.5" (57514-1008)
Savage RGB300 Color Video Light, adjustable, 5.5" x 4.25" (46961-1001)

Preparation

1. If possible, choose an outdoor scene, as Monet would have done. Create a second painting at the same place at another time, when the sun's position or weather conditions have changed.

If painting en plein air is not possible, set up a still life indoors with directional lighting that can be moved, dimmed, or altered with filters for the second artwork.

Process

1. Each student needs two pieces of paper, a drawing board, and drawing or painting materials. Sketch the composition lightly in pencil first, repeat it on second sheet of paper. Try to make both sketches similar. Fill the entire paper leaving little, if any, white space.
2. Refine the first sketch with color and shading. Observe the scene closely and try to choose the variety of tones that are present. Set a time limit and choose what is important and what can be left out.
3. Create the second painting at another time, or alter the light source so that highlights, shadows, and color temperatures are different.
4. When paintings are dry, select one and turn it over to the blank back side. Apply 1/2" tape along the edge to make a border.

5. Draw the warp. On a traditional loom, this would be the vertical strings that stay in place while fibers are woven in and out between them. Warp for a paper weaving can be cut as straight or diagonal lines that emphasize a focal point or perspective.

Warp templates of varying complexity are available in printable format at Dickblick.com/lesson-plans/woven-impressionistic-paintings.

6. Transfer the warp template on the back side, then cut along lines, stopping at the tape and taking care not to cut the border.
7. Cut the second painting into 1/2" strips. Number each strip, then weave in order onto the warp. Both paintings should correspond with each other, but do not need to be precisely aligned.
8. Secure the ends of each strip to the warp with glue.

Step 1: Create two similar paintings at different times or using a different light source.

Step 2: Use one of the provided templates to draw and cut warp lines on the back side of one of the paintings.

Step 3: Using strips cut from the second piece, weave together into one painting.

Artist Georgia O'Keeffe was an important 20th century artist and an independent observer, with a keen ability to edit what she observed and focus in on the components that intrigued her.

"It is only by selection, by elimination, by emphasis," she said, "that we get at the real meaning of things."

Had O'Keeffe been painting in the current age, her work may have been associated with the concept of "mindfulness". Being mindful, in very simplified terms, is being fully present in the moment, paying close attention to current surroundings and sensations. As a practice, it encourages simplification, observance, and focus by eliminating unnecessary distraction.

This lesson takes cues from O'Keeffe and focuses on observations and connections using mindful practices. Students "zoom in" on their subject, explore various viewpoints, note their physical sensations, then bring it all together in a mixed-media collage.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Preparation

1. View paintings and drawings by Georgia O'Keeffe and discuss the artist's choices. For example: What did she choose to focus on? What did she choose to leave out?
2. Students will select a subject to study and explore. It's best to choose an item that they may already have a connection to, such as a backpack, shoe, or a favorite food item. Avoid items that are 2-dimensional, such as photos or books. To further explore Georgia O'Keeffe's ideas, the subject could be an object from nature.
3. Cut illustration board into 8" x 10" pieces. Cut remaining board into pieces approximately 2" x 3" (does not need to be exact).

Process

1. Make a viewfinder by creating a frame with card stock. A plastic viewfinder or cell phone camera can also be used.
2. View the subject from as many angles as possible, filling the frame and holding it close to the subject. Make sketches of what is seen onto the smaller cards. Use pencil, pen, marker, or other drawing media. Sketches can be made quickly and refined later.
3. While viewing and sketching, write down any descriptive words that come to mind. For example: round, soft, sharp, rough, shiny, etc. What do the senses of smell, sound, taste, or touch discover?
4. Choose a few of the words from the list and create text that visually describes each word. Text can be drawn on remaining cards (cut as needed) or designed using materials that match the word. For instance, the word "round" might be drawn with balloon-style lettering. "Rough" might be drawn on burlap and "shiny" could incorporate metallic markers or foil.
6. Create a collage by gluing the sketches, words, and other objects onto an 8" x 10" piece of illustration board. For emphasis, place small scraps beneath the cards so that the collage has a variety of dimension. Pieces can overlap and be positioned in multiple directions.

Option

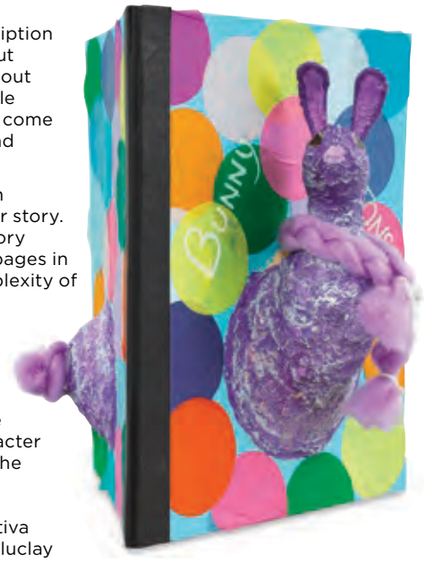
After completing steps 1–3, select one sketch and 1–2 sensory words. Create a painting that emphasizes the descriptive word. For example, build up textures to represent roughness or emphasize highlights to communicate shine.

Cover to Cover Characters

GRADES 3–12

Scan the QR code to view this lesson online.

Bring an animal character from your story to 3-dimensional life on the cover!



Characters come to life in readers' imaginations through written description and illustrations within the book. But what if the character literally came out of the book? Creative writing, saddle bookbinding, and papier-mâché all come together to create this one-of-a-kind readable sculpture.

Students will begin by imagining an animal protagonist and writing their story. Advanced students can create a story board to plan, with the number of pages in their book determined by the complexity of their story.

As fantastic as the story is, the dimensional cover is what really makes this project come to life. Sculpture wire is poked through a chipboard cover to serve as an armature for the unique character forms. Large dense areas, such as the head of the character, can be filled with inexpensive paper towels. The character's surface is formed in Activa Celluclay Instant Papier-Mâché. Celluclay is made from recycled paper products and an adhesive. When mixed with water, it creates a malleable, moldable, lightweight paper clay that will not contract or crack, making it perfect for this project.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students.

Step 1: Use sculpture wire, paper towels, and tape to create the character's head and bust.

Step 2: Attach the wire armature to the cover, through holes.

Step 3: Cover the form and add detail with Celluclay.

Step 4: Attach the cover to inside pages with Blickrylic Matte Medium.

Preparation

1. For the cover, cut four 28" x 44" sheets of chipboard into forty-eight 8" x 10" pieces. Each student needs two.
2. For instructions on how to bind the inside pages, refer to the full lesson plan at DickBlick.com/lesson-plans/cover-to-cover-characters.

Process

1. Use Blick Sculpture Wire to create a basic shape of the desired animal head and bust.
2. Fill large open spaces in the wire armature with paper towels and scraps of paper. Masking tape can be used to hold the towels in and to further define the shape.
3. Determine placement on the front cover, using a pushpin to make holes.
4. Attach the wire form armature to the cover by threading a wire end through the holes. The wire should be long enough to go through the board and have at least 1 1/2" to fold over at a 90-degree angle on the back side. Secure the wire with Lineco Spine Repair tape.
5. Mix the Activa Celluclay Instant Papier-Mâché in a plastic zip bag, adding water and squishing the outside of the bag to eliminate lumps.
6. Use fingers to smooth the Celluclay over the surface of armature and add finer details.
7. For the back cover, create the tail end of the character with armature wire. Follow the same process used to create the front cover in steps 1 through 6.
8. When dry, coat the front of the covers in gesso.
9. Once the gesso dries, paint with Blickrylic acrylic paints.
10. To attach the covers to the inside pages, apply a generous layer of Blickrylic Gel Medium to the backside of the cover. Open the book to the middle, spine side facing up. Press the cover down onto the tagboard end sheet, lining up with the outside edges. Repeat for the back cover.
11. When dry, close the book and center a length of Lineco Spine Repair Tape down the spine.

Materials

Activa Celluclay Instant Papier-Mâché, Original Gray, 24 lbs, (33106-1024); share one bag across class.
All-Purpose Chipboard, 30-ply, 28" x 44", (13115-2236); need six to share across class.

Community Curtain

Single strands combine for an installation that grows and gives voice to individuals and communities.

Step 1: Cut lengths of cord and tie a loop in one end for hanging. Glue the other end to prevent fraying.

Step 2: Design a personal strand with words and phrases on tags. Decorate with ribbons and a variety of craft materials and objects.

Step 3: Suspend strands from a ceiling, dowel, or line. Group together to form a community curtain installation.

Rebecca Louise Law is best known for creating large-scale, immersive installations in which hundreds of thousands of dried flowers and plants are strung together and then suspended on wires. They appear to float in the air and form delicate, veil-like curtains. As viewers wander through — enveloped by the collective whole — they also experience the individual and diverse forms, fragrances, and colors of each specimen.

Law's most recent installations have invited community members to provide materials that represent their own gardens and local flora. Volunteers from diverse backgrounds work together to collect, dry, and string the flowers in preparation for hanging.

As an interpretation of Law's installations, students and community members can create their own personal strand that becomes part of a large, collaborative piece: a community curtain.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Materials

Bonnie Craft Cord, assorted colors, 50 yd (61531-)

Materials for Decoration, recommend:
Morex Ribbon Assortments, 6 rolls, assorted (83713-); share one across class
Classroom Yarn Assortment, 5 lb assorted colors (65208-1005); share one across class
Creativity Street Wood Beads, assorted colors, 1 lb (80937-1001); share one across class
Roylco Really Big Buttons, pkg of 60 (60975-1002); share 1–2 across class
Pom Pom Beads, 1" dia, pkg of 50 (65090-1501); share 2–3 across class
Crayola Construction Paper Shapes, 9" x 12", pkg of 48 sheets (11425-1048); share one across class

Optional Materials
Midwest Products Birch Dowels, 1" x 36", pkg of 3 (33303-8017)
Brass Plated Macrame Ring, assorted diameters up to 16" (65292-)

Preparation

1. Determine a theme that will unite the strands together, provoke thought, and guide the direction of the design. Prompts will be specific to the audience, location, creators, and message. Posing a question helps generate ideas as answers:
- What is my story? What have I learned? What do I want others to know?
- What can I do? What can I change? What do I want to happen?
- What do I like about my community? What am I grateful for?

Process

1. Cut cord one yard in length or more, determined by how the strands will hang. Tie a loop in one end that will allow for hanging and apply glue to the other end to prevent fraying.
2. Provide materials to attach to the strand. While the prompt should be part of the design, it is not necessary for the entire strand to be dedicated to the theme. Much of it can be simply decorated as the maker determines.

Words and phrases can be written on tags and tied to the strand. More suggestions:
- Ribbons, strips of cloth and yarn
- Beads and buttons, pom poms, tassels
- "Found" and recycled items such as faux flowers and plants, straws, discarded jewelry, plastics, etc.
- Paper: cut into shapes, chain links, folded into origami shapes, or paper flowers

3. Strands can be suspended by paper clips from ceiling framing or grouped on dowels. They can hang from a coat hanger or macrame hoops. Outdoors, strands can hang from a porch or park shelter. Secure cord as a clothesline to hang strands across a room, in an overhead area, down a stair rail, or between two trees. Strands can also hang from tree branches.
4. Strands can be created as classroom or community projects, or as part of an event, gathering, festival, or family project. The goal is to complete as many as possible to display as an installation. These curtains can evolve and grow as time goes by, leaving memories, information, and inspiration with them.

Fabric Printing with Multi-Sided Relief Blocks

GRADES K–12

Scan the QR code to view this lesson online.

Create a variety of patterns on fabric using classroom scraps.

Block printing is one of the earliest forms of creating patterned fabric, along with patterned weaving and directly painting onto fabric. Traditionally, wooden blocks would be carved with designs that were manually printed onto a length of fabric.

This lesson calls for creating a four-sided block, allowing for a variety of printmaking possibilities, all in one printing block! Additionally, no carving is needed!

Patterns are created on the block using readily available materials, including classroom scraps, chunky yarn, suede lacing, WonderFoam, and cardboard. Each material will print in its own unique way. Students will experiment using different materials and designs. Much like in the collagraph printing process, the materials added to the block create a raised surface that can be printed. Double Tack is used to adhere materials to the surface, and a few coats of matte medium seal the fibers and harden the surface, making the piece ready for printing. To print, simply use a foam brush to apply Jacquard Textile colors to the design and press into fabric.

Materials

Midwest Products Mini Carving Blocks, Basswood assortment, pkg. of approx. 6, (60415-8514); need at least one block per student.
Grafix Double Tack Mounting Film, 24" x 36", (23205-1005); need two sheets.
Blickrylic Gel Medium, 32 oz, (00711-1007); need one bottle to share across class.
Blick Economy White Bristle Brushes, Long handle, flat, Size 24, (05169-1024); need one per student.
Jacquard Textile Colors, Asst. Colors and Sizes, (01208-); need at least six colors in 8 oz size or equivalent.
Blick Essentials Value Foam Brush, 1", (06027-1001); share one brush between two students.
Carolina Creative Natural Cotton Bandana, 21" x 21", (63982-1001); need one per student.

Suggested Materials for Creating Patterns:
Creativity Street WonderFoam Sheets, Asst. colors, 9" x 12", pkg of 10, (60947-1023); share one package across class.
Realeather Suede Lace Variety Packs, Asst. colors, 3/32" x 8', pkg of 3, (62517-); share one package across class.
Trait-Tex Bright Intermediate Rug Yarn, 2-ply, standard weight, set of 16 cones, (62813-1002); share one set across class.
Trait-Tex Bright Intermediate Rug Yarn, 4-ply, double weight, set of 16 cones, (62813-1004); share one set across class.

Note: Instructions and materials are based upon a class size of 24 students. Adjust as needed.

Process

1. Cut Grafix Double Tack Mounting Film to the size of the wood block. To attach the double tack, first peel off one side of the backing paper and press firmly onto the surface of the block. Burnish any gaps or bubbles out, then remove the second sheet of backing paper.
2. Choose a material to make a design. It is important to use only one material per side to keep the design relatively even at the surface.
3. When all the desired sides of the block are covered, coat the design and block with matte medium and allow to dry. Apply a total of three coats, minimum. The block is ready to print when all the design surfaces are hard to the touch.
4. To print, brush the textile color onto the surface of the printing block's design.
5. Press the block firmly and evenly into the fabric.
6. Repeat the printing process using different sides of the block to create the whole pattern.
7. Colors can be changed, and prints can be layered.
8. When design is complete, allow the textile to dry before heat setting with an iron.

Step 1: Apply material design to the block surface prepared with Double Tack film.

Step 2: Coat surface with Blickrylic Matte Medium.

Step 3: Brush Jacquard Textile Color onto design and print onto fabric.

BLICK® block printing essentials for all your block printing needs

readycut

Blick® Readycut

Blick proudly presents an innovative new idea in relief printmaking. Blick Readycut is an exclusive product developed to take the guesswork out of relief printing. Created by fusing a thin layer of a traditional gray carving block to a thicker white block, Blick Readycut allows artists to simply carve away the gray layer to reveal the white, and instantly see how their image will look printed. Trace an image on the block — or carve directly for spontaneous creativity. Blick Readycut eliminates repetitive inking, proofing, and cleaning because adjustments and additions are easy to see. Blick Readycut has an infinite shelf life and is soft enough for students at all levels to work with. Available in a variety of sizes, the plates measure 3/16" (5 mm) thick.

Blick® Wonder-Cut Linoleum in Pre-Cut Pieces

An ideal surface for students and teachers to practice on, Blick Wonder-Cut Linoleum offers softness and consistency with no slippage. It's easier to cut than our softer Golden-Cut, yet holds sharp lines with no crumbles, for clear, sharp prints. BLICK® battleship gray

Artwork by Tina Browder

Specially formulated for Blick, we import it from Europe several times a year to provide the softest quality possible. It gives a finely detailed, sharp, clear print. For best results, be sure your blades are sharp! Dull blades are dangerous and frustrating, especially to students. Because of the natural aging process, linoleum should be used within a year of its purchase to take advantage of its peak softness. For your convenience, we offer our 1/8" thick linoleum in pre-cut pieces, by the roll, and mounted on blocks.

BLICK® golden-cut

The fine-textured surface produces sharp, clear prints and won't distort when subjected to high pressure in the printmaking press. And the lighter golden color makes pencil marks easily visible — no need to paint the surface white. Finally, the inevitable hardening-with-age process has been significantly reduced with Blick Golden-Cut Linoleum.

Inovart® Printfoam for Block Printing

This soft but dense foam material easily takes an impression made by a pencil, stick, or other object. The surface is so sensitive that any shape can be pressed into it for printing textures. Because it requires only the slightest pressure to create a working impression, it's great for young children — no need for sharp tools. Use waterbased inks and any kind of paper to produce dozens of sharp prints. Cleans easily with running water.

Blick® Blue Easy-to-Cut Blocks

An innovative block printing surface that's easy for artists of all ages to carve on. It can be carved on both the front and back side, allowing two images per piece — great savings and less wasted material. Working with traditional lino tools, Easy-to-Cut cuts beautifully whether mounted or unmounted, leaving smooth, clean edges. Works well on curves and tight corners. Its shelf life can be up to 10 times longer than that of traditional linoleum.

Soft-Kut® Printing Blocks

This rubber material won't skid away from students and doesn't need a bench hook to hold it down. It cuts without requiring much pressure or force. Block thickness is approximately 1/4" — thick enough to allow both sides to be cut, so you get two printing surfaces per block. Cut blocks into small pieces with scissors, a knife, or a paper trimmer for rubber stamping.

We recommend that you use three blankets — a cushion, a pusher, and a catcher — to equalize the pressure and lessen the strain on the upper roll shaft of your press. If you are purchasing a Blick press, the cushion blanket is included. You will need to purchase a catcher and a pusher. The catcher blanket should be placed directly on top of your damp printing paper to catch the sizing from the paper, the cushion blanket on top of the catcher, and the pusher on the very top. The catcher blanket should be washed regularly so it doesn't become stiff from the paper's sizing residue.

CONRAD™

Conrad™ Presses

Small professional presses with the features and quality demanded by the professional artist, built to withstand the rigors of classroom use.

Backed by a 25-year manufacturer's warranty, Conrad presses are made entirely in the USA with no outsourced parts. All presses are shipped FOB from Whitehall, Michigan. Most other small etching presses are made with inadequate gearing or no gearing at all, but Conrad presses are designed with the same professional features available on much larger presses. The most remarkable feature is the planetary all gear 6:1 reduction drive available on Deluxe models. The base of the press extends the full length of the bed plate. The vertical frame is constructed of 1-1/4" square Aircraft Alloy Aluminum for maximum strength with minimum weight. The upper roll is spring counter-balanced to maintain height adjustment. Optional micro-gauges offer the barrel-thimble design calibrated to .005" per line. This means that you can adjust each pressure screw by about the same thickness as a human hair! Now, due to the ever-increasing popularity of the monotype press, Conrad is offering a line of these inexpensive, large-capacity, portable tabletop presses (see below for details). Truck Shipment and FOB Factory. See page 504 for details.

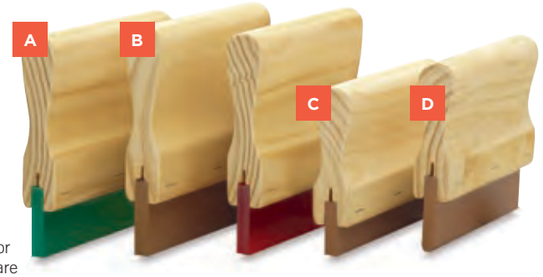
BLICK® squeegees



A–D Blick® Squeegees
Blick Squeegees are manufactured to our high standards. Kiln-dried and precision-cut lumber is used for the non-warp handles, which are smooth, comfortably shaped, and easy to work with. The blades are molded under high heat and pressure and have a tensile strength of more than 2,000 lb, which eliminates ink streaking and provides a superior, long-lasting printing edge. They're inserted into the wood handle and stapled in position, then professionally sharpened after assembly. Use for both graphic and textile applications, for all hand printing, and for many machine applications. Excellent abrasion and solvent-resistance. (Squeegee blade color may vary from image shown.)

Worbla's Black Art

A companion product to Worbla's Finest Art, this black thermoplastic material has a smoother texture, with less adhesive and slightly less stretch. With a texture much like clay, fruit leather, or beeswax when heated, it takes fine details and fine filigree work well, becoming rigid and stable when cool. It can be built up in layers, shaped over forms of foam, foil, wire or similar armatures, or used as a single layer. It can be painted with virtually any paint, wax, or finish, and is often used for projects that require a more metallic finish, as its smoother surface requires less priming before metallic paint can be applied. Non-toxic, skin-safe, and requires no special equipment.

Worbla's Finest Art

A favorite for cosplay and classroom use, with the quickest and easiest learning curve, Worbla's Finest Art is brown in color with an orange peel-like texture. It's non-toxic, skin-safe, and can be shaped by hand without special safety equipment to form rigid, strong pieces. When heated with a heat gun, hot air, water, an iron, or steam, it takes complex curves without requiring a vacuform, and is self-adhesive when activated — meaning that glues are not required to join the pieces. It can be painted with just about any paint, wax, or finish after priming.

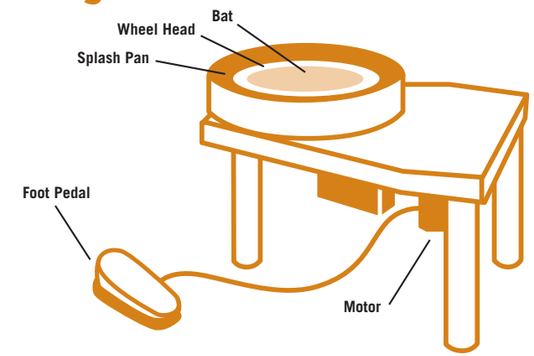
understanding pottery wheels

Ceramicists usually know what they like about a particular pottery wheel, but they may not know everything they should know when buying their first wheel or replacing an existing one. We asked some of the most recognized and respected names in the industry to help us take the mystery out of buying a pottery wheel. Here's what the experts had to say.



Pottery Wheel Key
Splash Pan	Keeps water and trimmings contained. One-piece or two-piece.
Wheel Head	The rotating disc on which clay is thrown and shaped.
Bat	A removable disc for removing and transporting finished pieces.
Foot Pedal	Controls the speed of the wheel head while throwing.
Motor	Powers the wheel. Horsepower (HP) varies by model.

Q. How important is motor size? And how does it relate to throwing capacity?

A. This may be the most important decision of all, and it can be confusing. Generally speaking, the higher the horsepower (HP), the larger the amount of power — or torque — your wheel will have. The most important thing is to choose the size that meets your needs, with power to spare as your skill level increases or as you begin throwing larger or more complex pieces.

The difference between "peak-duty" and "continuous-duty" horsepower ratings is also an important distinction. Continuous-duty motors are designed to run fully loaded 24 hours a day without overheating, while peak-duty motors will provide power for a shorter period of time. Look for this information on the motor's nameplate.

A wheel's throwing capacity can range from 25 lbs up to 300 lbs and even more. Keep in mind — the average mug weighs approximately 1 lb, so be realistic about the amount of power you need. Throwing capacity is a subjective measure that may vary based on the experience and ability of the artist — keep this in mind when choosing motor size.

A good rule of thumb is that a 1/3 HP motor is adequate for most hobbyists and beginning and intermediate students throwing vessels smaller than 50 lbs, while 1/2–1 HP motors are best suited for advanced students and professional potters who may be throwing larger pieces.

Q. Direct drive or belt-driven — which is better?

A. Many pottery wheels feature a belt-driven motor that has a mechanically controlled commutator (or rotor) system based on brushes. The latest innovation in pottery wheel motors is the DC (direct-current) direct-drive motor, which is brushless, beltless, electronically controlled, and extremely quiet. When the motor is turned off, the wheel head will spin freely, much like a banding or decorating wheel.

Wheels with belt-driven motors have served the pottery community dependably for many years, and recent innovations have eliminated some of the noise they produce. Direct-drive motors lack the torque of belt-driven motors and are much more expensive to repair; however they have been proven to require less maintenance, thus extending the useful life of the wheel.

The decision to purchase a belt-driven or direct-drive wheel is a personal one that depends upon your budget, how much and how long you intend to use your wheel, and how important the quietness factor is to you.

Q. What size wheel head?

A. The wheel head is the rotating disc on which clay is thrown, shaped, and sometimes decorated. Made of metal and marked with concentric circles, the size of the wheel head you choose (typically 12" or 14" in diameter) depends on how large the pieces are that you'll be throwing. Most wheel heads are drilled with at least two bat pin holes for attaching a bat — the removable disc that allows you to remove completed pieces without damaging or deforming them.

Q. What's a reversing switch and how important is it?

A. A reversing switch allows easy switching from one direction to the other, as well as providing a neutral position for smooth transitions when changing directions. In teaching environments, a reversing switch allows for both left-handed and right-handed potters to use the same wheel interchangeably. While in the neutral position, the wheel head will spin freely in both directions, to allow banding or decorating. A reversing switch is generally an optional feature, depending on the manufacturer.

For more information, visit DickBlick.com.

Q. What about portability?

A. How portable your wheel needs to be depends upon the size of your room or studio and how much space you can dedicate to it. Some pottery wheels are more or less stationary because of their weight or configuration, while some have removable legs or "booties" that allow them to be used on a tabletop or floor and stored out of the way when not in use. Some wheels incorporate work surfaces, seats, and splash pans into their design, which adds to their overall size.

For potters who ascribe to the "simpler is better" school, a small tabletop wheel might be best. For those who want their tools, clay, and water containers close at hand, a larger wheel with an attached work surface for these items might be the best choice.

The goal is to find the wheel that is most comfortable for you while throwing, in a configuration that suits your working style and your space.

Q. How important is the manufacturer's warranty?

A. Warranties vary widely from manufacturer to manufacturer. As with any important purchase, be sure to fill out and return the warranty form immediately to make sure you're protected against defects in materials and workmanship. There may be other stipulations, so read the fine print, keep your purchase receipt in a safe place, and make sure all warranty work is performed appropriately (i.e., by the manufacturer or an authorized dealer recommended by the manufacturer). Also ask if the wheel can be repaired locally, or if you'll be required to ship it elsewhere for repair.

WARNING! Products marked with a Prop 65 symbol (■ or ▼) can expose you to chemicals, including cadmium, which are known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. For more information, visit P65Warnings.ca.gov.

what you should know before buying a kiln

A kiln is an important purchase for school or studio — one that the purchaser will live with for many years to come. Considering that it's an important investment, buying one can be a daunting task. Here are a few points that will help you make the right choice for your application and budget.

Q. Where will the kiln be located?

A. First, you must decide where your kiln is going to be installed. For a school, that might be in the classroom or in the boiler room. In a studio, where space selection is more limited, the size of the available area will help determine the size of the kiln. But the following points remain constant:

1. Kilns should be located in a separate, well-ventilated room other than in an immediate work area.
2. Never install a kiln on any combustible floor such as wood or carpet.
3. The spacing between the kiln and wall must be a minimum of 18" regardless of what room it's in.
4. Measure carefully to make sure the kiln will fit through all doors leading to the placement location. Sectional kilns can be easily taken apart to fit through narrow doorways or staircases.

A CAREFUL CHECK BY A QUALIFIED ELECTRICIAN OR THE LOCAL POWER COMPANY IS RECOMMENDED.

Q. What power is available at your location?

A. It is important to check with maintenance personnel or a professional electrician to find out the following electrical information for the destination of placing your kiln.

Voltage — Voltage services can be 120V, 208V or 240V. Most residences only have 120V and 240V, whereas commercial and institutional buildings may have all three available. It is important to check the voltage available in the area where the kiln will be located as different buildings may have different supplies. Some 240V kiln models will have a higher temperature rating.

Phase — All 208V and 240V service will be either single-phase or three-phase. Nearly all residential service is single-phase, whereas commercial and institutional services may have both available. Single-phase has two current-carrying wires and a ground and three-phase has three current-carrying wires and a ground. They are both equally efficient; however, three-phase supplies allow for smaller wire and some kiln models designed for three-phase will have higher temperature ratings.

Amps — The kiln size you are considering could determine the amperage supplied to the building. Additional amperage may be added to the location by expanding the existing service. Again, refer to your maintenance personnel or electrician to determine the existing amps that are supplied.

Q. What is the maximum temperature you will require?

A. It depends on what type of clay and glazes will be fired in the kiln. Whether you use high or low fire clays will help determine the maximum temperature for your needs.

Clay – High Fire – Cone 5 (2167°F) and higher
Low Fire – Cone 05–06 (1828°F–1888°F)
Glazes – High Fire – Cone 5 (2167°F) and higher
Low Fire – Cone 04–05 (1888°F–1945°F)

Q. What is the maximum chamber size required?

A. The quantity of pieces you want to fire at one time and the size of the artwork being produced must be evaluated to determine maximum chamber size. Keep in mind the volume of work that will need to be fired in busy months.

Q. What safety measures should be taken when firing?

A. Always be present during the end of the firing cycle and cool-down period, to prevent over-firing. The kiln surface emits heat. Do not install near combustible surfaces or under a sprinkler head. Do not touch the surface while firing — wait until cooled to 130°F before opening the lid and always wear heat-resistant gloves.

Q. What is the recommended procedure for firing with a manual kiln?

A. 1. Place the correct jr. cone in the kiln sitter and set the falling weight.
2. Set the timer to 30 minutes past the anticipated firing time.
3. Prop the lid if kiln is not equipped with a downdraft vent.
4. Turn switches to LOW.
5. Two hours later, turn switches to MEDIUM.
6. Two hours later, remove the prop with a gloved hand and turn the switches to HIGH.
7. The kiln will shut off automatically when the proper heatwork has been achieved.

Q. What are the advantages of an automatic kiln?

A. An automatic controller allows the user to create precise, repeatable schedules. This provides consistent results, or more creative control when experimenting. Delay and auto shut-off features increase convenience and safety.

Q. Why vent a kiln?

A. Fumes, odors, and vapors are created when clay bodies and glazes are fired. It is important to clear them out of inhabited spaces for the comfort and safety of those around. Additionally, the venting process affects the firing results. A venting hood will dispel most of the fumes as they escape the kiln. Mechanical downdraft systems improve consistent heat distribution and circulation, as well as remove fumes before they can enter the room, or transfer color from one glaze to another inside the kiln.

Q. Why is it important to have air in the kiln?

A. Clay bodies, glazes, decals, lusters, etc. need air to fire properly. Many problems with color, glaze fit, and porcelain mildew occur because of too little oxygen in the kiln.

Q. What happens to air in the kiln?

A. The products we fire contain carbon and organics. These react with oxygen to form carbon monoxide early in the firing. During firing, the gases in the kiln expand — just like air in a hot air balloon. These gases are forced out through cracks and holes, making it difficult for new air to enter the kiln. A downdraft vent system pulls out the fumes, allowing fresh air to enter.

Q. Are there any health and safety issues?

A. Testing has shown that carbon monoxide produced during firing can be higher than accepted government (OSHA) standards. [35 PPM (0.0035%) for continual exposure or 200 PPM for short term exposure.] Carbon monoxide can produce headaches, fatigue, sore throats, and nausea. Fumes from kilns may also contain organics, volatile metals, fluorides, and sulphur oxides, which should be removed from the work area.

Q. What's the difference between a downdraft vent and a hood?

A. A downdraft vent removes fumes and odors from the kiln while at the same time bringing in air to improve firing conditions in the kiln. A hood system does not vent the kiln. It simply removes fumes that have already entered the room. There are no firing benefits, and only about 85% of the fumes are removed. Conditions in the kiln are not improved with hoods.

Q. What are some of the benefits of a downdraft vent?

A. Air brought into the kiln replaces carbon monoxide and adds oxygen needed for best fired results.

Hot gases are circulated, providing more uniform temperatures.

Oxygen in the kiln reduces corrosion of metal heating elements and kiln sitter parts, increasing their life.

A downdraft vent costs less than two cents per hour to operate. It requires 80% less makeup air than a hood above the kiln and saves up to $1.00 per day for heating or cooling makeup air as compared to a hood.

Manual venting is eliminated — no more touching the hot kiln to lower the lid or replace peephole plugs. The kiln stays closed throughout the firing and cool down is quicker (4-10 hours less) without opening the lid.

Downdraft venting is much more effective than a hood in removing fumes. It does not significantly increase firing time or affect the ability of the kiln to reach temperature.

Most kiln manufacturers recommend and sell downdraft venting. It is easily installed with no overhead pulleys.

ONLY DOWNDRAFT VENTING IMPROVES FIRING CONDITIONS IN THE KILN WHILE REMOVING FUMES FROM THE KILN AND WORKROOM!

Skutt® Rolling Kiln Stands

Most kiln stands are meant to stay put — not so with these rolling kiln stands from Skutt! Every stand is constructed from heavy-duty, powder-coated, welded steel square tubing and fitted with high-quality, locking polyurethane casters that won't develop flat spots like rubber or plastic wheels. The stands provide the recommended clearances from the kiln to the floor. Ideal for moving your kiln to clean under it, or just for moving it out of the way when not in use. FOB Factory. See page 504 for details.

Skutt® EnviroVent 2 Kiln Venting System

The EnviroVent 2 downdraft ventilation system extracts and vents fumes from your electric kiln that can be emitted from certain clay bodies and glazes when fired. Kiln venting is not only desirable but required by many state building codes. The EnviroVent 2 is UL listed and meets all state and federal requirements for fume ventilation. Downdraft ventilation provides the following added benefits:

- Removes fumes and odors.
- Better bisque, brighter colors & fewer defects.
- Improved heat uniformity.
- UL listed and recommended for every classroom.
- Vent Accessories:
  - 8 ft Extension for installations that require longer ducting runs.
  - Dual Intake Kit for venting kilns between 12 and 24 cubic feet or two kilns with chamber volumes each smaller than 12 cubic feet.
  - EnviroLink automatically turns the vent off when the kiln is done firing. Also can be programmed through the kiln to turn on or off during key segments of custom firing programs.

PARAGON™

Paragon™ Touch-N-Fire Kilns

Feature-packed kilns for every need and budget. All kilns feature easy-access, easy maintenance drop-down switch boxes, and the Sentry controller. Heating is wonderfully even and economical with 3" energy-saving firebrick; and in Cone-Fire mode, selecting Pre-Heat and Slow-Cool is easy, too. Each comes with its own stand, and a full-formed, galvanized steel base covers the brick bottom beneath each kiln for extra safety. Peepholes are tapered for wide view without heat loss. Models 23-3, 24-3, 27-3, and 28-3 feature Paragon's patented LiteLid spring counter-weight and sectional design. The kilns dismantle easily for firing sculptures or moving through narrow doorways. All models listed feature a protective row of 2" high blank bricks lining the top. This reduces brick damage from leaning into the kiln. Specify voltage and phase. Certified to UL & CSA Standard 499. Each kiln is configured and built to order. Therefore, kilns are not returnable. Truck Shipment and FOB Factory. See page 504 for details.

Blick® Essentials Gloss Glazes

Cone 06–05

Blick Essentials Gloss Glazes come in a variety of bright, true colors that can be intermixed to create an infinite palette of colors. Non-toxic, non-hazardous, and food safe, these glazes glide smoothly onto bisque, with a self-leveling formula that eliminates brushstrokes from the fired finish. They dry quickly, speeding up handling time and allowing for the application of additional decoration — great for classroom settings. They also won't dissolve or pick up previous coats of glaze. Because they fire to a high gloss finish, no clear glaze is required. ACMI-certified. Pints. Colors can be assorted for quantity pricing.

Amaco® Teacher's Palette Light® Low Fire LEAD-FREE Glazes

Cone 05 (1911°F)

These translucent gloss glazes break and flow to enhance the texture of a clay body. Their jewel-like colors are vibrant but lend a softer look, allowing the clay color and/or an underglaze to show through. They look especially beautiful over carved or textured surfaces, and also over Amaco Velvet Underglazes. Intermixable with one another and with Amaco Teacher's Palette and Amaco Teacher's Choice glazes. Brush or slip trail for decorative and Majolica-like effects. The colors will not run or bleed, and only blend together if mixed before application. Apply 1–2 coats for more transparency and 2–3 coats for more coverage. Colors can be assorted for quantity pricing.

MAYCO®

Mayco® LEAD-FREE Jungle Gems Crystal Glazes

Cone 06 (1828°F)

Mayco Jungle Gems and Crystalites have merged, creating the largest, most stunning crystal glaze assortment available. The glaze lines share similar chemistry, common glaze applications, and perform alike. Merging these lines simplifies the choice for artists and provides endless creative options. The former Crystalite glazes will retain their names but will be part of the Jungle Gems product line. Jungle Gems contain small pieces of glass frit that transform into splashes of color and patterns when fired. They can be used alone for dramatic effects or be combined with other glazes, such as Mayco Stroke & Coat, to add visual interest. Create your own unique glazes by layering different Crystal Glazes, as the crystals will burst through the glaze surfaces. Colors can be assorted for quantity pricing.

health & safety information

THE ART & CREATIVE MATERIALS INSTITUTE, INC.

The Art and Creative Materials Institute (ACMI) is a non-profit trade association of art and craft materials manufacturers. Since 1940, ACMI has conducted a certification program in which product formulas are analyzed by a renowned toxicologist and certified by ACMI as non-toxic or properly labeled. ACMI certification also ensures compliance to state and federal labeling regulations.

Dick Blick is concerned about your safety. We are members of ACMI and we feel it is important that our products are certified under the ACMI program. Young children sometimes chew crayons, drink tempera, eat paste, or lick paint brushes. Adult products must bear the proper health and safety labeling to ensure that artists, hobbyists, and other consumers have lifelong health protection and safety information about the art materials they use.

Conforms to ASTM D4236

Products bearing the AP seal of the Art & Creative Materials Institute, Inc. (ACMI) are certified non-toxic. A medical expert evaluates each product and its ingredients. A product can be certified non-toxic only if it contains no materials in sufficient quantities to be toxic or injurious to humans, or to cause acute or chronic health problems. AP certification is reviewed by ACMI's Toxicological Advisory Board. These products are certified by ACMI to be labeled in accordance with the chronic hazard labeling standard, ASTM D4236 and federal law P.L. 100-695.

Dick Blick recommends that when you purchase art materials, particularly for classroom and institutional use, you should carefully consider the ultimate consumer. In cases where a product may be used in pre-school or primary school classes (K-6), or in environments with physically or mentally challenged persons who may be unable to read or understand safety labeling, you should purchase materials which are AP certified non-toxic products. This will ensure that even the most sensitive populations can safely enjoy art and craft activities.

Conforms to ASTM D4236

Products bearing the CL seal of the Art & Creative Materials Institute ("Caution Label") contain ingredients that are toxic or hazardous, but they can be used safely with appropriate caution. Materials that bear the CL seal should be used only by those persons who are able to read, understand, and follow suggested safety precautions for handling those materials. The Caution Label signifies that although the product contains a toxic element, it can be handled safely if the directions on the container or packaging are followed. Many such art products cannot be made non-hazardous, but are necessary for certain creative activities.

Many of the materials we sell are not reviewed by ACMI. We feel that it would trivialize the health and safety issues in the arts if we told you that scissors are sharp and kilns are hot. Our goal is to identify hazards that might not be known to our customers, and where possible, to identify safer alternative products. We also seek out products that promote health and safety in the arts, and we urge our customers to use them.

Some art materials manufacturers are not members of ACMI; this is particularly true of foreign manufacturers, from whom we import some of our finest color lines. Many of our office and graphic arts products, such as marking pens, adhesives, or screen printing chemicals, do not come from ACMI manufacturer's. Always read labels and instructions, and follow the manufacturers guidelines for safe use. Young children should always have careful supervision when using art materials. Think of safety issues before you allow children to visit your studio. For products that do not have ACMI certification, we sometimes include a specific cautionary label of our own.

ACMI labeling indicates that a product has passed through a vigorous review process. Absence of the ACMI caution label does not indicate that a product is safe for use by children. Please read all labels and instructions before using art materials. Be an informed customer. We try to inform our customers of important health and safety issues, and we invite your comments on this issue.

ASTM

ASTM International, formerly known as American Society for Testing and Materials, is an international standards organization that develops and publishes voluntary consensus technical standards for a wide range of materials, products, systems, and services. Some 12,575 ASTM voluntary consensus standards operate globally. The standards presented here were developed by industry leaders in coatings and manufacturing plus scientists, artists and toxicologist for the betterment and safety of art materials.

ASTM D4236

The Standard Practice for Labeling Art Materials for Chronic Health Hazards describes a procedure for developing cautionary labeling for chronic health hazards in art materials. All art materials sold in the U.S. are required by Federal law (the Labeling of Hazardous Art Materials Act of 1988, also called LHAMA) to conform to this standard, and to display on the container label a statement to that effect: "Conforms to ASTM D4236."

ASTM D4236 requires that a qualified toxicologist, who determines which products must carry a warning statement and safe handling instructions, must evaluate all art materials. The standard includes tables of chronic hazards and precautionary statements that companies are required to place on product labels — these hazards and precautionary statements are based on current and developing knowledge that exists in the scientific and medical communities. The Consumer Product Safety Commission has been charged by Congress to enforce use of this standard.

ART MATERIALS FOR ALL AGES

Federal law requires that all art materials offered for sale to consumers of all ages in the United States undergo a toxicological review of the complete formulation of each product to determine the product's potential for producing adverse chronic health effects and that the art materials be properly labeled for acute and chronic hazards, as required by the Labeling of Hazardous Art Materials Act (LHAMA) and the Federal Hazardous Substances Act (FHSA), respectively. Art materials that are designed or intended primarily for children 12 years of age or younger must meet additional requirements (see below). After the chronic hazard review has been performed, the toxicologist will then recommend the appropriate statement to label that the product conforms to ASTM D4236. The FHSA also requires that a manufacturer affix cautionary labeling to art materials for certain acute and chronic hazards if those substances meet the definition of "hazardous substance" under the FHSA.

ART MATERIALS FOR CHILDREN UNDER 12 YEARS OF AGE & THE CPSIA

In addition to the LHAMA requirements detailed above, art materials that are designed or intended primarily for children 12 years of age or younger are also required to comply with the requirements of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (CPSIA). The CPSIA requires that manufacturers (this term includes importers) of children's art materials must test and certify compliance of such products before importing the products or distributing them in commerce. Manufacturers must submit samples of their product to a third-party laboratory whose accreditation has been accepted by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

WARNING

The State of California requires clear and reasonable warnings on products and/or storage containers containing chemicals that have been shown to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm. Even if these products contain only trace levels of harmful chemicals, a warning is required by the State of California.

Manufacturers of certain products have included warnings pursuant to California Proposition 65, and caution is recommended when using products marked with the Prop 65 icon. For more information, go to P65Warnings.ca.gov. Products marked with either of these symbols (■ or ▼) carry the Proposition 65 warning.

POISON CONTROL CENTERS

If you have a poisoning emergency, call 1-800-222-1222. If the victim has collapsed or is not breathing, call 911.

By dialing the above toll-free telephone number, you will be connected to the closest poison control center to your calling location. All poison control centers and emergency room physicians in the U.S. have 24-hour access to toxicological information and generic formulas for products certified by The Art & Creative Materials Institute, Inc. (ACMI) on behalf of its members, including Dick Blick Art Materials. For additional poison control information visit www.aapcc.org.

CE MARKING

CE Marking on a product is a manufacturer's declaration that the product complies with the essential requirements of the relevant European health, safety, and environmental protection legislation. The letters "CE" are an abbreviation of "Conformité Européene," which literally means "European Conformity." CE Marking on a product indicates to government officials that the product may be legally placed on the market in their country, ensures the free movement of the product within the European Free Trade Association and European Union single market, and permits the withdrawal of non-conforming products by customs and enforcement/vigilance authorities.

VOC RESTRICTIONS

Due to state laws that place limits on the shipping of Volatile Organic Compounds (VOCs), Blick Art Materials cannot ship some sizes of paint thinners or multi-purpose solvents to addresses within the following states: California, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Hampshire, and Utah.

STORAGE TIPS FOR WATERBASED ARTISTS' COLORS

Paint products can become contaminated with bacteria or mold, which can lead to a strong, offensive and in some cases, sickening odor. Paints such as poster paints and temperas that are intended for classroom use, and for children, often contain an organic binder that is subject to degradation if not stored properly, or used within a reasonable period of time.

To guard against bacteria and mold, manufacturers of paint products add preservatives to these products. Diluting the product will decrease the effectiveness of preservatives. Below are some tips on storing paint products to maximize their shelf life:

- Store the product in its original container in a cool, dry place and prevent freezing.
- Date and rotate inventory, always using the oldest stock first.
- Thoroughly shake the product before using.
- Remove only enough paint for immediate use. Never return unused portions to the original container.
- Never dilute the product. The addition of water dilutes the preservative's strength as well as the paint. If diluting paint to simulate watercolor techniques, prepare only enough for immediate use.
- Avoid working directly from the original product container. Do not place brushes, hands, or other objects in the container.
- After each use, make sure the cap is returned tightly and that the product is sealed before storing.

All paints are subject to eventual spoilage once opened and exposed to air and other contaminants. Most spoilage is a result of cross-contamination from common sources such as air, water, people, brushes and other utensils. Proper storage and usage will reduce potential sources of contamination and extend the life of your paint.

DAMAGE AND SHORTAGE

Be sure to count parcels and inspect the shipment before signing the delivery receipt. If damage or shortage is apparent upon receiving your shipment, please note it on the delivery receipt. Have the delivery driver sign the receipt and verify that there is damage. Save the damaged package or carton for inspection. Open all packages immediately and inspect merchandise to verify it is in good condition. If concealed damage (damage to materials inside a package with no external damage evident) is uncovered, notify us at once. Pictures of the damage is encouraged for all truck shipments. Check your merchandise against the packing slip. If an overage or shortage exists, we require you notify Blick Customer Service at

Factory direct merchandise returned as a result of a customer order error will be subject to a minimum 15% restocking fee and is the responsibility of the customer. Blick is not responsible for any lost or stolen packages.

Receipt of the check will be deemed to be your authorization for an Automated Clearing House (ACH) debit entry to your account, which in most cases will be posted to your account the following day. If your check is dishonored or returned for any reason, we will electronically debit your account for the amount of the check plus a legal limit of a processing fee as per state law.

PRICING/AVAILABILITY — All Prices Are Subject To Change Without Notice. Blick is committed to doing our best to make the necessary sacrifices so that prices in this catalog can be honored throughout 2023. In some cases, we may be able to lower prices if vendors do not raise prices to the extent estimated at the time of publishing this catalog. However, as vendors provide mid-year price increases, we cannot guarantee printed prices in this catalog – all prices are subject to change without notice. As of now, no more than a handful of products required mid-year adjustments, but this year may be an exception. Further, continuing supply chain disruptions have made it difficult to stay in stock on select items, and unfortunately vendors are taking much longer than usual to fill back orders. We ask for your understanding in these unprecedented times. As always, Blick reserves the right to typographical errors.

SHIPPING AND HANDLING CHARGES — Merchandise orders totaling $49 or more ship freight-free via FedEx Economy whenever possible. Oversized or overweight orders will ship via a freight line. In those cases, the free freight offer includes curbside delivery only. Other services performed at the time of the delivery such as lift gate and inside delivery will incur additional charges. The average transit times will be extended for freight line deliveries and a delivery signature will be required. All other orders, see shipping charges above. EXCEPTIONS: Additional shipping charges will be added to factory-direct (FOB) shipments; oversized or overweight orders that require lift gate and/or inside delivery; international and U.S. Territory orders; and shipments to Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Shipment of the following stocked art materials will be billed at an additional cost: linoleum rolls; stretched canvas 36" x 36" and larger; oversized panels; select oversized frames; any combination of clay, plaster, and molding material totaling 50 lbs or more; packages of foamboard; all GBC Classiccut Ingento Cutters and Trimmers; the Blick 906 Model II Etching Press, the Blick 999 Model II Etching Press, the Blick Master Etch Model II Press, and all Blick Model II Benches; all kilns and pottery wheels; and some shelters. Paper or boards may be assorted to reach the quantity of 10. Some stocked furniture items will be shipped by truck and billed at an additional cost.

SHIPPING METHODS — Depending upon the items ordered and destination, shipments to a residential address may be delivered by the local post office. Oversized or overweight orders may ship via freight line. In those cases average transit times will be extended and a delivery signature is required. Items shipped using FedEx Fast2Day service will be received by the customer within two business days, and will be shipped via air or ground. Please note that hazardous items cannot be shipped to destinations outside the continental U.S. Schools should allow two to three weeks delivery time for orders placed from July 1 through September 30.

TRUCK SHIPMENT — Delivers your item to your curb or dock. The charge varies and is based on distance, weight, bulk, and other factors. A physical address and destination phone number are required for delivery. The minimum charge is approximately $200. For an additional $45, a smaller truck with a lift gate will lower your merchandise to the ground. For an additional $30, your order can be moved from the curb to a ground-level location just inside your door. Delivery drivers cannot move items up or down stairs or to a specific location. Uncrating, disposing of packing materials, and installation are not included. Questions? Call 800-447-8192.

FOB FACTORY AND OVERSIZED ITEMS — Items that include "BF" in front of the item number will, in most cases, be shipped directly from the factory and will not qualify for our free freight offer unless otherwise stated. Additional shipping charges do apply for these items. If you have any questions call 800-447-8192. Please allow additional time for delivery. Some items shipped directly from the factory may not be available for express shipping.

ASSEMBLY/INSTALLATION — Blick is not responsible for unpacking, uncrating, unloading, removing, or disposing of debris, or for assembling or installing products.

PAPER & BOARD ORDERS — When ordering sheets of paper or board larger than 18" x 24" in quantities of less than 10, a per order handling fee applies. Paper or boards may be assorted to reach the quantity of 10.

SHIPPING METHODS - Depending upon the items ordered and destination, shipments to a residential address may be delivered by the local post office. Oversized or overweight orders may ship via freight line. In those cases, average transit times will be extended and a delivery signature is required. Items shipped using FedEx Fast2Day service will be received by the customer within two business days, and will be shipped via air or ground. Please note that hazardous items cannot be shipped to destinations outside the continental U.S. Schools should allow two to three weeks delivery time for orders placed from July 1 through September 30.

Truck shipment delivers your item to your curb or dock. The charge varies and is based on distance, weight, bulk, and other factors. A physical address and destination phone number are required for delivery. The minimum charge is approximately $200. For an additional $45, a smaller truck with a lift gate will lower your merchandise from the truck to the ground. For an additional $30, your order can be moved from the curb to a ground-level location just inside the door. Delivery drivers cannot move items up or down stairs or to a specific location. Uncrating, disposing of packing materials, and installation are not included. Questions? Call 800.447.8192.

FOB FACTORY AND OVERSIZED ITEMS — Items that include "BF" in front of the item number will, in most cases, be shipped directly from the factory and will not qualify for our free freight offer unless otherwise stated. Additional shipping charges do apply for these items. If you have any questions call 800-447-8192. Please allow additional time for delivery. Some items shipped directly from the factory may not be available for express shipping.

Merchandise orders totaling $49 or more ship freight-free via FedEx Economy whenever possible. Oversized or overweight orders will ship via a freight line. In those cases, the free freight offer includes curbside delivery only. Other services performed at the time of the delivery such as lift gate and inside delivery will incur additional charges. The average transit times will be extended for freight line deliveries and a delivery signature will be required. All other orders, see shipping charges above.
