TIMELESS STYLE, REIMAGINED

In 2026, we saw design shifting toward warmth and naturalism—more grounded neutrals, organic texture, and materials that feel collected over time. Our newest floors reflect this evolution through realistic detailing, wide and long formats and a renewed appreciation for timeless wood visuals and quietly elegant stone styles.

Read on to see how these trends are coming home, with inspiration and spotlights on our newest floors.

DETAILS THAT MAKE THE DESIGN

It all starts in Salem, New Jersey—where our styling team, led by Renee Cannon and Alison Curran, start off by analyzing what consumers want. They look closely at home interior trends and elements like paint colors, cabinetry, textiles and more, translating those cues into decisions that ensure our floors complement today's most current trends and what consumers are looking for in real life.

From there, our 2026 floors fall into two core trend stories, perfectly aligned with this year's leading design movements:
Warm Minimalism and Classic Romance.

"We approach every floor as a story waiting to be told, layering color, texture, and pattern to reflect how people truly live in a space. Our job is to translate design trends and everyday inspiration into surfaces that feel timeless, livable, and uniquely connected to our customers lifestyle."

Renee + Alison

WARM MINIMALISM

Minimalism in 2026 has moved beyond its once rigid aesthetic of stark neutrals and ultra-modern furniture. Today, minimalist spaces feel particularly warm, welcoming, and deeply intentional.

It's no longer about stripping everything away. It’s about thoughtfully curating what stays, and crafting a home that supports peace, comfort, and clarity.

Style Tips:

Flooring: use natural, timeless styles like European White Oak and Maple, stone looks and herringbone formats

Decor: source mid-century elements, curved furniture, natural wood pieces and marble

Color: seek fabrics, accessories and rugs in deep browns, maroon, forest green and muted mustard tones and pair with wood and metallic accents to create a timeless look

CLASSIC ROMANCE

Our other key 2026 design trend, Classic Romance, is defined by a renewed sense of nostalgia and storytelling inspired by everything from the timeless charm of Jane Austen to the cinematic comfort of Nancy Meyers.

This aesthetic embraces richly layered interiors that blend vintage elegance with eclectic, character driven details, creating spaces that feel warm, inviting, and thoughtfully curated.

Style Tips:

Flooring: use rustic, hand-scraped and reclaimed wood visuals. Character species like oak or hickory drive this trend

Decor: wallpaper, arched mirrors, velvet fabrics and period vases will help add a romantic, timeless feel

Color: think deep and dramatic colors like navy blue, green, deep red and mustard yellow. Complement with brass and dark wood tones to create a cozy vibe

SINCE 1915:
A Heritage of Craft

As design continues to evolve, the focus remains on creating spaces that feel personal, timeless, and enduring. At Mannington, proudly founded in 1915 and still led by the Campbell family in its fifth generation, this philosophy guides everything we do—combining thoughtful design, lasting performance, and a legacy of craftsmanship.

We’re grateful to everyone who chooses Mannington, and to those considering us, for trusting us to be part of the spaces that matter most.
