Dear Richard

I have been contacted by many constituents livid at the prospect of MPs being given a large pay rise during this pandemic. I completely agree with them.

It is unpalatable that with pressure on public funding and borrowing at an all time high, that the suggested wage rise is implemented. Even if some MPs are minded to make charitable donations, if a wage increase is imposed on us, the reality is that the public purse is still footing the overall bill.

I strongly suggest that no rise whatsoever be awarded to MPs.

Best wishes
