Claim Stake Sales

Claim stakes are physical objects that must be transported to a chosen planet in order to lay claim to a plot on its surface. Claiming a planetary plot grants the owner access to extracting available local resources and build in planet infrastructure.

They play an important role in the Golden Era.

All planetary gameplay loops, such as farming, extracting and refining resources requires that players successfully establish and maintain a claim stake in an open planet surface. Space squatting is discouraged with a tax to maintain ownership of the plot.
