Can This Love Be Translated?

On Netflix January 16, 2026 | Scripted

Can This Love Be Translated? is an unpredictable romantic comedy that unfolds when multilingual interpreter Joo Ho-jin is assigned to work with global celebrity Cha Mu-hee. The series brings together the legendary Hong Sisters, the writers behind hit romances like Alchemy of Souls, Hotel Del Luna and The Greatest Love, with director Yoo Young-eun (Bloody Heart). Kim Seon-ho (When Life Gives You Tangerines, Hometown Cha-Cha-Cha, The Childe) stars as Joo Ho-jin, a talented interpreter fluent in multiple languages, from English to Japanese to Italian. Go Youn-jung (Sweet Home, Alchemy of Souls: Light and Shadow, Moving) plays Cha Mu-hee, a top celeb with an utterly unpredictable charm. Japanese star Sota Fukushi (As the Gods Will, Bleach, I'm Taking the Day Off) makes his first appearance in a Korean production. Lee E-dam (Daily Dose of Sunshine, Black Knight) and Choi Woo-sung (Chief Detective 1958, Melancholia) round out the compelling ensemble.

The Art of Sarah

On Netflix February 13, 2026 | Scripted

The Art of Sarah follows Sarah Kim, a woman determined to make a luxurious name for herself—even if her ambitions are built on a lie—and Mu-gyeong, the man relentlessly chasing the truth behind her vanity. Director Kim Jin-min (Extracurricular, My Name) joins forces with cinematographer Ju Sung-rim (The School Nurse Flies, Mask Girl, The Roundup franchise), editor Nam Na-young (Squid Game), and costume supervisor Cho Sang-kyung to present a meticulously crafted series. The series is penned by Chu Song-yeon, whose debut offers a rare combination of a fresh voice and a meticulously woven plot. Shin Hye-sun (Stranger, Welcome to Samdal-ri) takes on the role of Sarah Kim, the regional CEO of a luxury brand whose name is widely recognized, though she herself is surprisingly difficult to meet. Lee Jun-hyuk (Love Scout, Dongjae, the Good or the Bastard) plays Mu-gyeong, a determined detective out to uncover the truth. He pursues the enigmatic Sarah Kim, a woman whose multiple names, ages and careers make her identity almost impossible to pin down.

Notes from the Last Row

On Netflix Q2 2026 | Scripted

Notes from the Last Row is a suspense drama series about Heo Mun-oh, a grumpy literature professor and failed writer who discovers untapped genius in Lee Kang, a mysterious student seated in the last row of his class. This triggers Mun-oh's obsession with the boy's extraordinary gift for writing, drawing the two into secret one-on-one sessions that soon spiral into dangerous territory. Choi Min-sik plays Mun-oh, who hides a lifelong insecurity over never becoming the writer he dreamed of being, while Choi Hyun-wook portrays Lee Kang, the prodigiously talented student who reignites Mun-oh's dormant passion. Huh Joon-ho stars as Kim Su-hun, the successful writer whose career has long deepened Mun-oh's sense of failure, while Kim Yunjin plays his wife, Ahn Eun-joo. Jin Kyung plays Jo Hyeon-suk, Mun-oh's wife, quietly observing as her husband mentors a student for the first time. These intertwined relationships set off an unpredictable chain of events, delivering tightly woven, high-intensity suspense throughout. Based on the critically acclaimed Spanish play El Chico de la última fila, the series brings together director Kim Gyu-tae (The Trunk, Our Blues, and It's Okay, That's Love) and writer Jang Myung-woo, who contributed to the adaptation of the film My Mother, The Mermaid.

Pavane follows three emotionally closed-off individuals who slowly become a ray of light for one another, ultimately learning to face life and love again. This is the latest work from acclaimed director Lee Jong-pil (Escape, Samjin Company English Class). Go A-sung (Because I Hate Korea, A Resistance) plays Mi-jung, a department store salesperson who keeps her world tightly sealed, doing everything she can to avoid being seen. Byun Yo-han (Black Out, Following, Uncle Samsik) transforms into Yo-han, a free-spirited man working in the store's parking lot. Rising star Moon Sang-min (Cinderella at 2 AM, Wedding Impossible, Under the Queen's Umbrella) joins the cast as Gyeong-rok, who develops feelings for Mi-jung after meeting her at his part-time job. With the trio's never-before-seen chemistry and director Lee's signature nuanced touch, the film promises to deliver a profoundly new portrait of love.

Husbands in Action

On Netflix Q2 2026

Husbands in Action is an action-comedy film that follows the chaotic, unpredictable mission of Si-nae's ex-husband, Chung-sik, and her current husband, Min-seok, as they begrudgingly team up to rescue her after she's been kidnapped by a dangerous criminal group. Helmed by Director Park Gyu-tae, known for his hit comedy 6/45, the film throws the mismatched pair of men into a frantic, off-the-rails mission. Jin Sun-kyu and Gong Myoung, the dynamic duo behind the box-office hit Extreme Job, reunite: Jin Sun-kyu stars as Choong-sik, a hot-headed cop who charges into every case, including the mission to rescue his ex-wife. Gong Myoung plays Min-seok, the younger, gentle veterinarian and current husband, determined to save his beloved wife. Kim Ji-seok joins the cast as Do-joon, the leader of a new drug gang, while Yoon Kyung-ho plays Yong-gang, a rival gang leader determined to reclaim power. Kang Hanna stars as the kidnapped wife Si-nae, while Lee Da-hee plays Hye-ran, Do-jun's wife and a key figure in the drug business. Jeon So-min rounds out the cast as A-ra, a determined journalist chasing a scoop.

Mission: Cross 2

On Netflix Q3 2026

Mission: Cross makes its comeback with a new sequel. Mission: Cross 2 promises an electrifying action spectacle as Kang-mu and Mi-seon take on the mission of a lifetime: stopping a shadowy organization from smuggling Korea's cultural heritage artifacts out of the country. The first film wowed audiences with its explosive blend of action and comedy, and its second installment ups the ante with an even bigger, bolder heist. Hwang Jung-min reprises his role as Kang-mu, effortlessly shifting between a loving husband and a former special ops agent, while Yum Jung-ah returns as the charismatic Mi-seon, a former national shooting athlete turned ace detective. Jung Man-sik again plays Sang-woong, Mi-seon's reliable colleague and leader of the violent crimes unit, with Cha Rae-hyung and Lee Ho-cheol back as Hun-ki and Dong-su — the lovably clumsy yet indispensable detectives of the squad. New faces join the franchise: Yoon Kyung-ho as Cheon In-hak, the leader of the organization plotting to seize cultural treasures; Im Seong-jae as Duchil, nicknamed the “connoisseur among tomb raiders”; Cha In-pyo as the President; and Kim Kuk-hee as his chief of staff and trusted right hand. Together, they're gearing up for a whole new level of thrills, humor, and heart.

Possible Love (WT)

On Netflix Q4 2026

Possible Love (WT) follows the intertwined lives of two married couples leading completely different lives. As their worlds collide, fractures begin to appear in their daily existence. Marking his first release in eight years, highly acclaimed director Lee Chang-dong (Burning, Poetry, Secret Sunshine) brings his signature nuance to Possible Love, capturing shifting emotions, conflicts, and contrasting outlooks that shape these relationships. Jeon Do-yeon reunites with director Lee Chang-dong for the first time since Secret Sunshine, taking on the role of Mi-ok with a performance that cuts deep and lingers. Sul Kyung-gu also returns to collaborate with director Lee for the third time — following Peppermint Candy and Oasis — portraying Mi-ok's husband, Ho-seok, revealing a new side of himself to audiences. Sang-woo and Ye-ji, a couple whose lives stand in stark contrast to Mi-ok and Ho-seok, are played by Zo In-sung and Cho Yeo-jeong, marking their first collaboration with director Lee, which further amps up the excitement for the film. All eyes are on how Zo In-sung, known for his genre-defying range in Smugglers and Escape from Mogadishu, which has mesmerized critics and fans alike, and Cho Yeo-jeong, celebrated for her ever-evolving charm in roles from Parasite to Hidden Face, will bring these characters to life.
