Logline: Set in 2024 Seoul, Season 2 uncovers the never-ending ties — the good and the bad — that fate weaves in Gyeongseong via Ho-jae, a man deceptively similar in looks and demeanor to Tae-sang, and Chae-ok, a survivor of the Gyeongseong spring. Season 1 showcased a compelling story that combined historical fiction and the creature genre, masterminded by beloved writer Kang Eun-kyung, known for her genre-defying scripts such as Dr. Romantic and Kang Chi, the Beginning, and director Chung Dong-yoon who is lauded by the public and critics alike for Hot Stove League, winner of the 56th Baeksang Arts Awards for Best TV Drama. While Season 1 explores the many facets of a society through a creature borne of greed and the dark splendors during the turbulent spring of 1945, Season 2 transports us to Seoul in 2024. This is the latest project by director Jason Kim, whose film Midnight Runners painted a witty and suspenseful portrait of youth with its cast of unique characters, followed by his work in the Netflix series Bloodhounds, which reached first place in Netflix's Global Top 10 TV (Non-English) list. A martial arts officer protects the safety of civilians by preventing crime and electronically monitoring individuals at a high risk of reoffending.
