Sealed Refill Dispensers Prove Safer Than Open Bulk Dispensers

Nearly 25% of soap from open refillable dispensers in public restrooms and schools is highly contaminated with bacteria according to a recent study.* This same study also found that washing with soap from bulk dispensers instead of soap from sealed refills left 10 times as many bacteria on students' hands and may play a role in transmission of bacteria in schools.

*In a study conducted by GOJO Industries and The University of Arizona, 2009.

Ask about floor stand mounting options!

Soap or Sanitizer? Both.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends washing hands with soap and water whenever possible because handwashing reduces all types of germs and chemicals on hands. When soap and water are not available, using a sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol can help prevent sickness and the spread of germs to others.

Sanitizers placed in convenient areas are a great complement to any hand hygiene program and demonstrate your commitment to employee and customer safety.

Comfort Mat

How do Anti-Fatigue Mats Work?

We all know that certain work environments can increase the likelihood of muscle strains and joint pain due to long periods of standing in one place. Cumulative Standing Trauma (CST) is linked to the loss of billions of dollars annually due to increased worker compensation, high insurance rates, higher absentee rates and reduced productivity. Ergonomic solutions like our anti-fatigue mats can help!

Anti-fatigue mats work by promoting subtle movement in the leg and calf muscles while providing support to muscles in the legs and lower back. This safely stimulates the flow of blood and oxygen. Our ergonomic mats also deflect compression in the joints by spreading it out across high-performing, durable materials.
