

WHO WE ARE

Community Fly Fishing is an organization that creates access for people who are looking to experience the outdoors through the art of fly fishing, taught through a community focused lens.

Community Fly Fishing offers free Fly Fishing 101 courses, guided instructional trips, and guide school to help people access the outdoors by reducing the barriers to entry and creating welcoming pathways into the sport.

Community Fly Fishing is dedicated to providing an inclusive space and believes the outdoors is for all.

CONTINUED

Community Fly Fishing finds attendees through our various diverse networks and programs empowering individuals and the community they have grown up in. It is simply what we know. Community Fly Fishing has partnered with various organizations and brands like Patagonia Fly Fishing, The Nature Conservancy, and Colorado Parks and Wildlife to create a platform that helps create access to outdoor opportunities.

CREATE ACCESS

Provide Access: Offer free introductory fly fishing courses to anyone interested in learning, helping reduce barriers to outdoor recreation.

Teach: Deliver instruction led by educators and guides who reflect our communities, creating a welcoming and relatable learning environment.

Build: Foster an inclusive fly fishing community where people can connect, grow, and develop a lifelong appreciation for the outdoors, inspiring the next generation of conservation-minded anglers and advocates.
