DEAR MEDIA REPRESENTATIVES,

The Olympic Winter Games will host biathlon competitions for the 17th time in Beijing 2022. Biathlon was first featured at the Olympic Winter Games in Squaw Valley in 1960 with the Men’s 20km Individual, and what progress our sport has made in the past 62 years! With the introduction of new events, our sport is now gender-neutral and will offer 11 exciting contests across six disciplines in Beijing.

We can expect a whole new set of first-time Olympic winners in Beijing. Only Hanna Oeberg of Sweden in the Women 15km Individual and Johannes Thingnes Boe of Norway in the Men 20km Individual will be defending their titles. Gold medallists from PyeongChang 2018, Laura Dahlmeier, Anastasiya Kuzmina, Arnd Peiffer, and Martin Fourcade retired in the past four years and made room for new champions to emerge. There will be surprise outcomes, be sure of that. You only have to look back at PyeongChang 2018, where the gold relay medals from the Belarus women’s team and the Swedish men’s team showed that nothing is ever certain in biathlon. As you might know, anything can happen in a biathlon; one missed target can change the order upside-down in the blink of an eye.

It is not only the faces and names of athletes that have changed since the last Olympics. The International Biathlon Union has also undergone a major transformation since 2018. A new state-of-the-art IBU Constitution, which is at the forefront of good governance and has drawn praise from international experts has sent out a message about the IBU’s commitment to integrity, transparency, and accountability. A new Integrity Code and operationally independent Biathlon Integrity Unit have also been set up. Target26, a first-of-its-kind strategic plan, has established a clear roadmap for our federation to build on biathlon’s strong foundation and maximise its potential. It has led the way to innovative initiatives for our sport, including the commitment to become climate-neutral by 2030.

In this Beijing 2022 Biathlon Guide, you will find a complete list of nominated athletes, short profiles of the best of them, discipline explanations, a venue description, a historical overview, and other valuable and helpful information along with links for further reading and research, which we prepared for you.

I sincerely hope it will give you an overview and additional insight into our sport.

Enjoy the Olympic biathlon!

Kind regards

CHRISTIAN WINKLER

COMPETITION SCHEDULE

BIATHLON DISCIPLINES INTRODUCED

Biathlon is a sport that combines the endurance of free-technique cross-country skiing with precision small-bore rifle marksmanship. The combination of two very contradictory disciplines – skiing and shooting – in the same competition poses a very demanding challenge for any athlete. Cross-country ski racing requires intense, full-on physical exertion over an extended period of time, whereas shooting demands extreme control, stability and focus. When athletes arrive at the shooting range, they have to shoot at very small targets, with a racing heartbeat and heaving chest because the clock is running even while they are shooting, and a missed target results in a penalty. The shooting distance is always 50 m. Athletes fire five rounds at five targets in each shooting bout, except in the relay competitions, where the competitor has three spare rounds for each bout. There are two shooting positions, prone and standing, which are done either alternately or consecutively, depending on the competition. The target diameters are very small and depend on the shooting position. The targets are 115 mm in diameter for the standing, and even smaller for the prone (45 mm). Penalties are imposed for missed targets. Throughout the competition, the biathletes must always obey the IBU Event and Competition Rules.

INDIVIDUAL COMPETITION MEN/WOMEN

The Individual is the longest and the oldest competition in biathlon, with women skiing 15 km and men 20 km. The start interval is generally 30 second. There is no penalty loop: each missed target in the individual adds a minute to the final time. Athletes shoot first in prone position, then standing, then prone again and finally standing again.

SPRINT COMPETITION MEN/WOMEN

The Sprint format is a time-trial competition with two shooting stages, 1 prone and 1 standing. Women ski 7.5 km and men 10 km. Competitors start at 30-second intervals; each missed target results in a penalty loop of 150 m.

PURSUIT COMPETITION MEN/WOMEN

The Pursuit allows the top 60 athletes from the sprint competition to compete over 10 km for women and 12.5 km for men. There are four stops at the shooting range: the first two in the prone position and the last two in standing. The start interval is determined by the results of the sprint competition so that the winner starts first, the second follows by the time back from the sprint results and so on until 60th. Just as in the sprint, each missed target corresponds to a penalty loop of 150 m.

MASS START COMPETITION MEN/WOMEN

In the Mass Start 30 athletes start simultaneously and compete over a course of 12.5 km for women, 15 km for men. There are four shooting stages: the first two in the prone position and the last two in standing. Each missed target corresponds to a penalty loop of 150 m. The winner of the mass start is whoever crosses the finish line first.

MASS START CRITERIA AT THE OLYMPICS EXPLAINED

RELAY COMPETITION MEN/WOMEN

In the women (4x6 km) and men (4x7.5 km) Relay competitions, the first members of all teams start simultaneously and after completing their part, tag the next member in the hand-over zone to start them on their way. Athletes have three spares to load manually in case of missed shots. If a target(s) remain standing after the three spares, the athlete goes to the 150 m penalty loop.

MIXED RELAY COMPETITION

The Mixed Relay (4x6 km) is a mixed-gender competition, formed with teams of two women and two men from the same country. The competition specifics are, in principle the same as in the regular relays. Women start the competition, and men continue.

NOC QUOTA LIST EXPLONATION

For nations wishing to compete in the Olympic Winter Games, the criteria are pretty simple and straightforward. 37 competitions starting back on 28 November 2020 are being used for the NOC Quota List. The best 12 results in six sprints, one individual, three relays, one mixed relay and one single mixed relay determine the final rankings. At that point, in both the men and women's lists, NOC's 1-3 receive six quota places, 4-10, five quota places, 11-20, four quota places; those nations beyond 20th in the IBU Qualifying Points List are eligible to be allocated up to two quota places for top-ranked athletes of twelve available on the Points List.

Given that the host nation has further qualified-by-points athletes, it can receive up to four places per gender – with the additional places not being deducted from the remaining 10 spots from IBU Qualifying Points List. All of the top 20 teams receive four start spots in the individual competitions, setting the Sprint and 15km / 20km Individual start fields at 92 competitors, and should the results deem it, a nation could have five starters in the mass start.

With the women's and men's relays in Ruhpolding competitions completed, the NOC Quota List of the top 20 nations for both men and women was finalised, as well as the allocated places beyond 20th.

On the men's side, Team China receives one place via the IBU Qualifying Points List, and one place via the Host Nation quota. Since China has further qualified-by-points athletes, it receives two additional places not being deducted from the remaining 10 spots from IBU Qualifying Points List.

OLYMPIC WINTER GAMES 2018 PYEONGCHANG - KOR

COLD, WINDY NIGHTS These Games will surely be remembered for long for the rigid climate that the athletes had to adapt to: temperatures went as low as -18°C, while the wind often made it feel even colder and more difficult in the range.

THE GERMAN SPRINT DOUBLE With the triumph of Laura Dahlmeier and Arnd Peiffer in the women and men's sprints, Germany opened the biathlon programme the best: it was only the 3rd double in Olympic history for the biathlon. Previously, Germany had taken both relays in 1998, while Norway seized both the men and women's individuals in 2010.

NEVER COUNT THE CZECHS OUT Czech Republic had never won a medal in biathlon before Sochi, but ever since then they have proved to be a powerhouse of the sport. Two more medals have been added at these Games. Will Beijing 2022 bring them the first gold?

YOUNG, GOLD AND SWEDISH With one gold and one silver medal each, Hanna Oeberg and Sebastian Samuelsson have shown that a new generation is ready to take over. Oeberg was the only woman who finished in the top 10 in all the individual competitions of the programme too!

LAURA, THE STAR OF THE FIRST WEEK Sprint and Pursuit Olympic champion, Bronze medallist in the individual: Laura Dahlmeier was the star of the first week of competitions in South Korea. Her streak of podiums in medal events came to an end in the Mass Start, but it did not diminish the extraordinary success of her Games.

MARTIN IS WRITTEN DOWN IN FRENCH OLYMPIC HISTORY By winning the Pursuit, the Mass Start and the Mixed Relay's titles, Martin Fourcade became the most decorated French athlete in the history of the Olympics, with 5 gold medals on his résumé. A fantastic result, especially following the tough start of his PyeongChang adventure in the sprint.

THE MEN'S INDIVIDUAL WAS A TALE OF 3 MEN JT Boe, Jakov Fak and Dominik Landertinger. For each of them, this result was a tale of success worth being told: Boe, after dominating the season together with Fourcade, and needed a gutsy performance to capture the gold. Both Fak and Landertinger were not even sure that they would take part in PyeongChang.

TIMELESS KUZMINA Three gold medals in three consecutive Olympic Games: Anastasiya Kuzmina not only captured the third title, but two more medals in the making, proving to be one of the stars of PyeongChang 2018 and writing her name in biathlon history.

HISTORY FOR SVENDSEN He may have not taken home a gold medal, but by winning two silver medals and a bronze medal, Emil Hegle Svendsen reached 8 Olympic medals in his career.

THE MIXED RELAY SPECIALISTS By taking a down-the-wire bronze medal in the mixed relay, Italy had for the first time won back to back medals at the Olympics in the same discipline, proving that a team's strength is not just the sum of the individuals.

MORE THAN DASHA ALONE: THE BELARUSSIAN SENSATION

Four years before, Darya Domracheva was the star of the Games in biathlon, but her biggest success from Pyeongchang came also thanks to an amazing team made of fabulous shooters: Nadezhda Skardino, Iryna Kryko and Dzinara Alimbekava had already taken the lead when Domracheva took the last leg. It was a team win, which was made even more special as it was the first ever relay win for Belarus.

A+ FOR SWEDEN'S FINAL EXAM Peppe Femling, Jesper Nelin, Sebastian Samuelsson and Fredrik Lindstroem had all given great signals of form throughout the Olympic Games and many thought they could repeat the relay success they have had over the course of the BMW IBU World Cup season. However, they were not the favourites and only the perfect execution from each member allowed for a historical result for these 4 guys and Sweden in the first ever relay gold!

THE INTERNATIONAL BIATHLON UNION (IBU)

The IBU is recognized by the International Olympic Committee (IOC), as the international governing body for the Olympic sport of biathlon. Headquartered in Anif bei Salzburg, the IBU is a non-profit organization registered in Austria that regulates the sport and oversees the competition organization world-wide. In cooperation with its 59 member national federations (NFs), the IBU uses competitions, events, programs and other activities to promote and develop participation in Biathlon throughout the world. The IBU was founded in 1993 as independent association under the umbrella of the UIPMB alongside the UIPM (Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne). The IBU separated from UIPMB in 1993.

The IBU holds all rights pertaining to Biathlon World Championships (senior, junior, and youth), Biathlon World Cups, Biathlon Continental Championships, IBU Cups, IBU Junior Cups, Biathlon Continental Cups and Summer Biathlon World Championships. In exercising these rights, the IBU has marketing and sponsor partnerships, and cooperates with the European Broadcasting Union. Furthermore the IBU is responsible for promoting the sport of biathlon by supporting and developing it in both competitive sports and popular recreational sports, with special emphasis on the development of youth.

The IBU aims to combine development of the techniques and materials for practicing biathlon with respect for the health of the athletes, the integrity of nature, and human surroundings. The IBU attempts to achieve harmony through the IBU Constitution and Rules and their respective practice, as well as through licenses and inspections of biathlon event sites. The IBU proudly offers a dynamic and evermore attractive sport, which combines total physical exertion over an extended period of time when running or skiing with the extremely fine control and calm necessary when shooting.
