Notices of Appraised Value

OUR LOCAL PROPERTY TAX SYSTEM

TCAD sends out yearly notices of appraised value each spring, which contains three important values:

1. MARKET VALUE: WHAT YOUR PROPERTY WOULD SELL FOR.

- Reflects what is indicated by the market based off similar properties sold in the last year.
- Refreshes on January 1st of each year.

2. NET APPRAISED VALUE: PROPERTY VALUE AFTER HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AND OTHER APPROPRIATE PARTIAL EXEMPTIONS ARE APPLIED.

- Properties with a homestead exemption are eligible for net appraised value limitation.
- Appraisal caps limit the year-to-year increase in the appraised value of a homesteaded property to 10% unless changes to the property create new value (like a new building, pool, etc.).
- Each year, your net appraised value is a calculation of whichever is lower, either last year's assessed value plus 10%, or the current market value.

3. TAXABLE VALUE: NET APPRAISED VALUE MINUS ANY OTHER EXEMPTION AMOUNTS

- Value used to calculate your property taxes.

Two Methods to Appraising Properties

BUILDING YOUR CASE

There are two main approaches used for appraising residential properties in Texas.

Sales Comparison

Based on sales

Compare your properties similar to yours
("Apples to Apples")

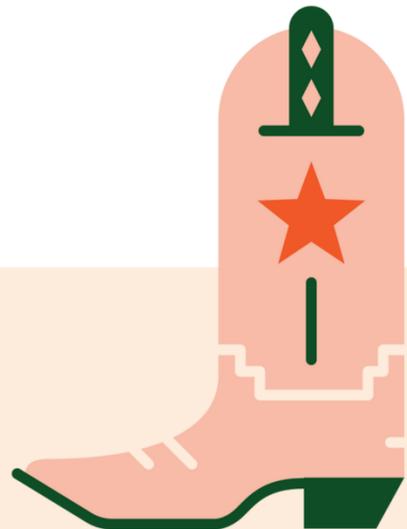

Requires a "reasonable sampling"
(5-10 properties)

Equally Uniform Comparison

Are you over-appraised in comparison to your neighbors?

Comparison of neighborhood values.
Not based on sales

Requires a "reasonable sampling"
(5-10 properties)

Gathering Evidence

BUILDING YOUR CASE

- Find properties similar to yours in size, features, and year built, or adjust values accordingly.
- Prepare an evidence packet that includes sales comparison and appraised values. If relevant to your case it can also include evidence such as:
 - Photos
 - Settlement or Closing Statement
 - Cracks in slabs or interior walls
 - Repair quotes
 - Written Market/Equity Analysis
 - Error(s) about your property
- Use the equity and/or sales comparison grids provided by TCAD in the evidence packet to ensure a facts-based case.
- Utilize the TCAD property search feature to look up similar properties.

Consider working with a trusted real estate professional or hiring a consultant to prepare an independent appraisal/analysis.

18 Tips on How to Avoid Losing

Need to Knows

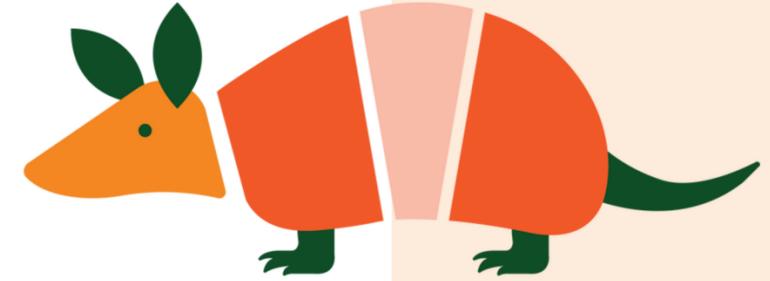

18 TIPS ON HOW TO AVOID LOSING

1. Do not get into a shouting match.
2. Forget about tax rates. The tax rate is not decided by the appraiser and has no place in either the Informal Meeting or the Formal Hearing.
3. Do not talk about your inability to pay taxes. Not being able to afford to pay taxes is immaterial.
4. Do not assume that the purchase price reflects true value unless the home was acquired within six months before or after January 1st of the appraisal year. Some appraisal districts use a time-adjusted value.
5. Do not compare your property to properties that are located outside of the CAD determined neighborhood or homogeneous subdivision. Find out your neighborhood boundaries before the hearing, not after!
6. Do not show front-view photographs of your neighbors' properties without showing a front view of your property.

Need to Knows

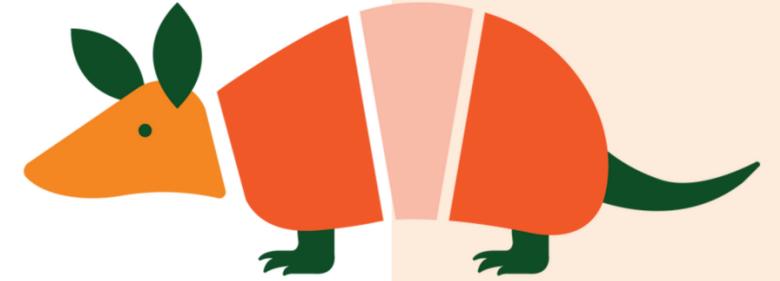

18 TIPS ON HOW TO AVOID LOSING

7. Crime and noise impacting your property values are difficult to establish. If actual sales have been affected, this makes for a stronger argument.
8. Do not rest your argument entirely on minor settlement cracks in the walls, floors and ceiling. Should you consider the situation serious obtain a construction bid to correct the issue and provide it.
9. Leaking roofs are often considered to be due to a lack of maintenance, often reimbursable by insurance, and not due an adjustment.
10. Do not volunteer information about improvements you have made. If asked, reply in the simplest terms possible. The CAD may be aware of remodeling from building permits, drive-by or aerial photography.
11. Do not forget you have the right to cross-examine the appraiser during the Formal Hearing.
12. Use your special knowledge of the detrimental aspects of your neighborhood and property.

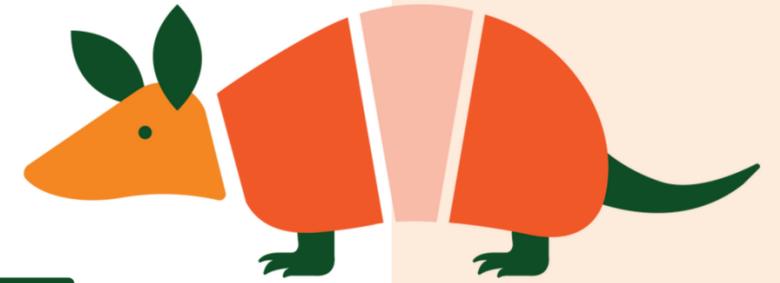

Need to Knows

18 TIPS ON HOW TO AVOID LOSING

13. If the appraiser is not comparing reasonably comparable properties, be sure to point this out to the appraiser during an Informal Meeting or the Hearing Panel at the Formal Hearing.
14. First impressions count so we suggest that you dress professionally.
15. Avoid sexist or discriminatory remarks.
16. Make eye contact during your presentation. In ARB hearings, some panel members tend to concentrate on the CAD furnished reports. Handouts and illustrations will assist in focusing everyone's attention on the facts you wish to present.
17. Work diligently to make your presentations uncomplicated and simple.
18. Use handouts effectively. Be organized!
