PRIVATE GUIDE TOUR

Scenic Nordic ski tour

An expedition-style adventure in and around the mountains, to the iconic, pyramidal Loðmundur mountain.

A sightseeing expedition that takes us over the plains north of the mountain range. The mission is to reach the towering Loðmundur summit in all its magnificent glory.

We will be heading east with Hofsjökull Glacier on our left and Kerlingarfjöll mountain range on our right. In front of us the tower of Loðmundur grows bigger by each step on our trusted skis.

We will set up camp below Loðmundur and enjoy our lunch with the robust appetite that only outdoor activities bring. After lunch break we head back along a different and a bit more challenging route towards the Highland Base, skiing along Asgarðsfjall, the mountain of the gods.

Season: Oct to June

Duration: 4-5 hours

Distance: 10-12 km depending on snow conditions

Elevation gain: Mostly flat but some moderate uphill and downhill

Skill and fitness level: Beginner to explorer. Moderate to fit.

Transport: Meet your guide at the hotel. No transport needed.

What do I need to bring?

Warm clothes and socks, wind- and waterproof jacket, gloves, buff, hat, and sunglasses. Water, snacks, and a light lunch.

Ski gear is not provided on site but can be rented for ISK 20,000 per person. It has to be transported from Reykjavík.

Minimum age: 12 years

This tour adapts to the current snow and ice conditions.

Backcountry ski course

Backcountry skiing 101. The basics, the do's and don'ts in a safe and fun one-day course.

Icelanders have learned to ski in the remote and beautiful mountain range of Kerlingarfjöll for decades and now you can too!

Learn the basics from the best. Our elite ski guides teach skiing at all levels and will also cover the main subjects of safe backcountry etiquette and avalanche awareness.

We will start by going over the basics of backcountry skiing, before heading up the slopes for a fun ride down. After a couple of runs we will return to Highland Base for a hearty lunch break before heading out again to show those slopes what we are made of.

Season: Oct to June

Duration: 8 hours w/lunch break at Highland Base (lunch not included)

Distance: 1-3 km depending on snow conditions and skill level

Elevation gain: 3-500 meters depending on snow, weather, and experience

Skill and fitness level: Beginner to explorer. Adjusted to participant fitness level.

Transport: Meet your guide at the hotel. Arrange your own transport to access the hike departure site.

What do I need to bring?

Warm clothes and socks, wind- and waterproof jacket, gloves, buff, hat, and sunglasses. Water and snacks.

Minimum age: 12 years

Nordic ski course

Learning the traveling style of the early polar explorers

We love Nordic skiing! There is absolutely no better way to explore Icelandic nature during winter than on Nordic skis. This is how the early explorers navigated to both poles and is still the preferred method of travel for all polar and glacier expeditions.

Nordic skis are similar to Cross Country skis, only slightly broader and thus better suited for venturing into the wild. In this course you will learn from our expert guides the basics of the time-honored tradition of nordic skiing and enjoy exploring the magnificent highland landscape of Kerlingarfjöll mountains.

Season: Oct to June

Duration: 6 hours w/lunch break at Highland Base (lunch not included)

Distance: 3-5 km depending on snow conditions

Elevation gain: Mostly flat

Skill and fitness level: Novice to explorer. Adjusted to participant fitness level.

Transport: Meet your guide at the hotel. No transport needed.

What do I need to bring?

Warm clothes and socks, wind- and waterproof jacket, gloves, buff, hat, and sunglasses. Water and snacks.

Ski gear is not provided on site but can be rented for ISK 20,000 per person. It has to be transported from Reykjavik.

Minimum age: 12 years

This course adapts to the current snow and ice conditions.

HIKING AND SKIING

The bare basics

Meeting point

All tours start from Highland Base Kerlingarfjöll.

Find your guide at the reception 15 minutes before departure. Let's head outside for an adventure!

What to bring

We recommend wearing warm and comfortable clothing, a waterproof outer layer and good shoes, since conditions in the Icelandic highlands can change suddenly. On a good summer day, you might be able to wear only a thin shirt and stuff the rest in a small backpack, but usually only for a short while. Bring a warm hat and gloves, buff or scarf, in summer and winter, and sunglasses and hiking poles if you've got them. We recommend opting for woolen garments, which don't lose their insulation qualities if wet.

Good and sturdy hiking boots or trail shoes and good hiking socks are a must. On most tours we will encounter the multicolored mud of Kerlingarfjöll that tends to stick to the bottom of shoes.

Lastly, fill your water bottle with the pure Icelandic tap water and slip it into your backpack along with some snacks. If the tour lasts more than 3 hours, you should also pack a light lunch.

Minimum age

We have a lot of experience hiking, skiing, and scrambling with children and teenagers, and we know that they are usually far more capable and fit than their parents give them credit for! However, because of the technicality and skill level required on some of our tours, we have set age limits that reflect the difficulty involved.

But there is always a but! We are more than happy to reconsider this age limit for children who are fit and accustomed to outdoor adventures.

Skill levels

Novice:

No previous experience

Beginner:

Have tried the activity couple of times

Tourer:

Knowledge of the activity and ability to participate without much assistance

Explorer:

Experience and knowledge of the activity and readiness to explore
