very Trucks (A&A) very (A&A)

els were the 1937-48 M series models, and the 1955-1964 E to 1964, of the E and Champ models. Built some light-duty pickup in 1937 that it was not until the a producer of light-duty pickup of Studebaker that year, 1937 Studebaker introduced its first light-duty pickup, the Coupe-Express. Front end sheet metal, most of the cab, the instrument panel, engine and basic chassis components, came directly from the 1937 Studebaker 5A Dictator passenger car. Since the Coupe-Express was based on a car styling, it had vent windows in the doors, something not offered on most other pickups of the era. It also had dual windshield wipers, dual sun visors, a rear view mirror, dome light and an adjustable seat. The 1937 Coupe-Express was fitted with a double-walled six-foot 16 gauge all-steel pickup box that featured a contoured outer shell that flowed into the rear fenders. The tailgate was smooth and had no name on it. The bed floor was all-steel. The Coupe-Express came with a spare tire mounted in the right front fender well. Front and rear chrome bumpers were also standard. Like the 5A Dictator, the Coupe-Express had an I-beam front axle. The Coupe-Express could be ordered without a pickup box. Another variant was the Suburban Car, a woody station wagon which was based on a J5 windshield cowl chassis. Larger Standard series Studebaker trucks used the same cab as the Coupe-Express. Included in the Standard series was a 1½-ton J15 Express pickup and panel van.

I.D. DATA: The serial number was located on the left side of the frame under the front fender. The engine number was located on the top left side of the cylinder block above the distributor. The beginning serial numbers for the J5 Coupe-Express were J5-001 in South Bend and J5-5,001 in Los Angeles. The beginning engine number was T-701.

Model No.	Body Type	Factory Price ($)	Weight	GVW (lbs)	Prod. Total
J5 Series Half-Ton	Pickup	647	3168	4500	3125
J5

ENGINE: Six-cylinder. L-head. Cast iron block. Displacement: 217.8 cu. in. Bore and Stroke: 3¼ in. x 4⅜ in. Compression ratio: 6.01. Brake horsepower: 86 at 3600 R.P.M. Taxable horsepower: 25.38. Maximum Torque: 160 ft. lbs. at 1200 R.P.M. Main bearings: Four. Valve lifters: Solid. Carburetor: Stromberg Model EX-23 one-barrel, Carter Model W1-371S one-barrel or Carter Model WA1-414S one-barrel.

CHASSIS & BODY: Wheelbase: 116 in. Overall length: 193 in. Height: 67 in. Width: 71.75 in. Interior pickup box dimensions: 71.75 in. long x 48.6 in. wide x 14.6 in. high. Front tread: 57.4 in. Rear tread: 60.4 in. Tires: 6.00 x 16.

TECHNICAL: Sliding gear transmission. Speeds: 3F/1R. Synchronesh in second and third. Floor shift control. Single plate dry disc clutch. I-beam front axle. Hypoid semi-floating rear axle. Overall ratio: 4.55:1. Hydraulic brakes. Automatic Hill Holder standard. Steel disc wheels. Two-stage rear springs. Front and rear tubular shocks. Variable ratio steering gear.

OPTIONS: Overdrive transmission. Radio. Heater. Electric clock. Leather upholstery. Cigarette lighter. Rear axle: 4.82:1. Tires: 6.50 x 16. Steel spoke wheels. Cab-high tarpaulin pickup box cover. Locking gas cap. License plate frames. Spotlight. Clear road or amber fog lights. Wig-wag stop light.

HISTORICAL: With sales of over 3,000, the 1937 Coupe-Express was, up to that time, the best selling truck model ever produced by Studebaker. Quite a few 1937 Coupe-Expresses have survived, but there are evidently no surviving J5 Suburban Cars.
